Welcome

With a track record built over 40 years of learner success, our BTEC International Level 3 qualifications are recognised internationally by governments, industry and higher education. BTEC International Level 3 qualifications allow learners to progress to the workplace – either directly or via study at a higher level. Over 100,000 BTEC learners apply to university every year. Their Level 3 BTECs, either on their own or in combination with A Levels, are accepted by UK and international universities, and higher-education institutes for entry to relevant degree programmes.

Career-ready education

BTECs enable a learner-centred approach to education, with a flexible, unit-based structure and knowledge applied to project-based assessments. BTECs focus on the holistic development of the practical, interpersonal and thinking skills required to be successful in employment and higher education.

When creating the BTEC International Level 3 qualifications in this suite, we worked with many employers, higher-education providers, colleges and schools to ensure that we met their needs. Employers are looking for recruits who have a thorough grounding in the latest industry requirements and work-ready skills, for example teamwork. Learners who progress to higher education need experience of research, extended writing and meeting deadlines. BTEC qualifications provide the breadth and depth of learning to give learners this experience.

BTEC qualifications address these needs by offering:

- a range of BTEC qualification sizes, each with a clear purpose, so that there is something to suit each learner's choice of study programme and progression plans
- internationally relevant content, which is closely aligned with employer and higher-education needs
- assessments and projects chosen to help learners progress; this means that some assessments and projects are set by you to meet local needs, while others are set by Pearson, ensuring a core of skills and understanding common to all learners.

We provide a full range of support, both resources and people, to ensure that learners and teachers have the best possible experience during their course. See Section 10 Resources and support, for details of the support we offer.

Collaborative development

Learners who complete their BTEC International Level 3 qualification in Hospitality aim to go on to employment, often via the stepping stone of higher education. It was, therefore, essential that we developed these qualifications in close collaboration with experts from professional bodies, businesses and universities, and with the providers who will be delivering the qualifications. We engaged experts in the development of these qualifications to ensure that the content meets providers' needs and gives learners quality preparation to help them progress. We are grateful to all the university and further-education lecturers, teachers, employers, professional body representatives and other individuals who have generously shared their time and expertise to help us develop these new qualifications.

Introduction to the BTEC International Level 3 qualifications for the hospitality sector

This specification contains all the information you need to deliver the Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Qualifications in Hospitality. We also refer you to other handbooks and policies. This specification includes all the units for these qualifications.

These qualifications are part of the suite of hospitality qualifications offered by Pearson. In this suite, there are qualifications that focus on different progression routes, allowing learners to choose the one best suited to their aspirations. These qualifications are not regulated in England.

All qualifications in the suite share some common units and assessments, which gives learners some flexibility in moving between sizes.

In the hospitality industry these qualifications are:

Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Certificate in Hospitality

Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Subsidiary Diploma in Hospitality

Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Foundation Diploma in Hospitality

Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Diploma in Hospitality.

This specification signposts the other essential documents and support that you need as a centre in order to deliver, assess and administer the qualifications, including the staff development required. A summary of all essential documents is given in Section 7 Administrative arrangements. Information on how we can support you with these qualifications is given in Section 10 Resources and support.

The information in this specification is correct at the time of publication.

Qualifications, sizes and purposes at a glance

Title	Size and structure	Summary purpose
Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Certificate in Hospitality	180 GLH Equivalent in size to 0.5 of an International A Level. Two mandatory units, of which one is assessed by a Pearson Set Assignment. Mandatory content (66.6%).	An introduction to a vocational sector through applied learning. Supports progression to higher education. Part of a programme of study that includes other vocational or general qualifications.
Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Subsidiary Diploma in Hospitality	360 GLH Equivalent in size to one International A Level. Four mandatory units, of which two are assessed using a Pearson Set Assignment. Mandatory content (66.6%).	A broad basis of study for the Hospitality sector. Designed to support progression to higher education when taken as part of a programme of study that includes other appropriate BTEC International Level 3 qualifications or International A Levels.
Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Foundation Diploma in Hospitality	540 GLH Equivalent in size to 1.5 International A Levels. Five mandatory units, of which three are assessed using a Pearson Set Assignment. Mandatory content (55.5%).	Designed as a one-year, full-time course, covering the fundamentals in the hospitality industry, which can support progression to a work-based learning qualification in the hospitality industry or a further year of study at Level 3. It supports progression to higher education if taken as part of a programme of study that includes other BTEC International Level 3 qualifications or International A Levels.

Title	Size and structure	Summary purpose
Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Diploma in Hospitality	720 GLH Equivalent in size to two International A Levels. Twelve units, of which four are assessed using a Pearson Set Assignment.	For learners who want to prepare for roles in hospitality business operations in this sector. For example, working in hotels or front office operations in restaurants. Designed to be the substantive part of a 16–19 study programme for learners who want a strong core of sector study and a focus on hospitality supervision. Other vocational or academic qualifications or non-qualification elements can complement it to support progression to specific job roles in hospitality, or to higher education courses in hospitality management.

Structures of the qualifications at a glance

This table shows all the units and the qualifications to which they contribute. The full structure for this Pearson BTEC International Level 3 in Hospitality is shown in Section 2 Structure. You must refer to the full structure to select units and plan your programme.

Qualification and unit content

Pearson has developed the content of the new BTEC International Level 3 qualifications in collaboration with employers and representatives from higher education, and relevant professional bodies. In this way, we have ensured that content is up to date and that it includes the knowledge, understanding, skills and personal attributes required in the sector.

The mandatory content ensures that all learners are following a coherent programme of study and that they acquire knowledge, understanding and skills that will be recognised and valued by higher education and employers. Learners are expected to show achievement across mandatory units as detailed in Section 2 Structure.

BTEC qualifications encompass applied learning that brings together knowledge and understanding with practical and technical skills. This applied learning is achieved through learners performing vocational tasks that encourage the development of appropriate vocational behaviours and transferable skills. Transferable skills are those such as communication, teamwork and research and analysis, which are valued in both higher education and the workplace. Opportunities to develop these skills are signposted in the units.

Our approach provides rigour and balance, and promotes the ability to apply learning immediately in new contexts.

Centres should ensure that content, for example, content that references regulation, legislation, policies and regulatory/standards organisations, is kept up to date. The units include guidance on approaches to breadth and depth of coverage, which can be modified to ensure that content is current and reflects international variations.

Assessment

Assessment is designed to fit the purpose and objective of the qualification. It includes a range of assessment types and styles suited to vocational qualifications in the sector. All assessment is internal but some mandatory units have extra controls on assessment and are assessed using Pearson Set Assignments.

Pearson Set Assignment (PSA) units

Some units in the qualifications are assessed using a Pearson Set Assignment. Each assessment is set by Pearson and is marked by teachers.

Set assignment units are subject to external standards verification processes common to all BTEC units. By setting an assignment for some units, we can ensure that all learners take the same assessment for a specific unit. Learners are permitted to resit set assignment units during their programme. Please see Section 6 Internal assessment for further information.

Set assignments are available from July each year and are valid until the end of August in the following year. For detailed information on the Pearson Set Assignment, please see the table in Section 2 Structure. For further information on preparing for assessment, see Section 5 Assessment structure.

Internal assessment

All units in the sector are internally assessed and subject to external standards verification. Before you assess you will need to become an approved centre, if you are not one already. You will need to prepare to assess using the guidance in Section 6 Internal assessment.

For units where there is no Pearson Set Assignment, you select the most appropriate assessment styles according to the learning set out in the unit. This ensures that learners are assessed using a variety of styles to help them develop a broad range of transferable skills. Learners could be given opportunities to:

- write up the findings of their own research
- use case studies to explore complex or unfamiliar situations
- carry out projects for which they have choice over the direction and outcomes
- demonstrate practical and technical skills using appropriate tools/ processes etc.

For these units, Pearson will provide an Authorised Assignment Brief that you can use. You will make grading decisions based on the requirements and supporting guidance given in the units. Learners may not make repeated submissions of assignment evidence. For further information, please see Section 6 Internal assessment.

Language of assessment

Assessment of the units for these qualifications is available in Arabic.

A learner taking the qualifications may be assessed in sign language where it is permitted for the purpose of reasonable adjustment for learners of determination. For information on reasonable adjustments for learners of determination, see Section 7 Administrative arrangements.

Grading for units and qualifications

Achievement of the qualification requires demonstration of depth of study in each unit, assured acquisition of a range of practical skills required for employment or for progression to higher education, and successful development of transferable skills. Learners who achieve a qualification will have achieved across mandatory units, where applicable.

Units are assessed using a grading scale of Distinction (D), Merit (M), Pass (P) and Unclassified (U). All mandatory and optional units contribute proportionately to the overall qualification grade, for example, a unit of 120 GLH will contribute double that of a 60 GLH unit.

Qualifications in the suite are graded using a scale of P to D*, or PP to D*D*. Please see Section 9 Understanding the qualification grade for more details. The relationship between qualification grading scales and unit grades will be subject to regular review as part of Pearson's standards monitoring processes, on the basis of learner performance and in consultation with key users of the qualifications.

1 Qualification purpose and progression

Pearson BTEC International Level 3 qualifications in Hospitality

Who are these qualifications for?

The Pearson BTEC International Level 3 qualifications in Hospitality are designed either for learners in the 16–19 age group, who wish to pursue a career in hospitality via higher education or in entry-level employment with businesses, or alternatively through junior progression into higher or further education.

Which size qualification to choose?

Choosing the most suitable size of qualification will depend on the learner's broader programme of study. For example, a learner who wishes to focus solely on hospitality or catering may take the Diploma, while a learner who selects a smaller qualification, such as the Certificate or Subsidiary Diploma, may choose to combine it with qualifications from other sectors, in order to support their desired progression. Smaller qualifications are also suitable for learners who are in employment and studying part-time.

Qualification structures have been designed to enable a learner who starts with the smallest qualification to progress easily to the larger qualifications.

What do these qualifications cover?

The content of this qualification has been designed to support progression to particular roles in hospitality, either directly into entry-level roles linked to these occupational areas or, more likely, via particular higher education routes in the particular areas. The qualification content has been designed in consultation with employers, professional bodies and higher education providers to ensure that the content is appropriate for the progression routes identified.

All learners will be required to take mandatory content that is directly relevant to progression routes in all of the identified areas.

In addition, learners take optional units that support the progression route identified in the qualification title. For example, learners taking the qualification as part of a work-based learning qualification for hospitality or catering could take units, such as Unit 15: Front Office Operations.

Learners looking to follow a catering route could take units, such as Unit 12: The Cuisine of your Country.

What could these qualifications lead to?

This qualification supports progression to job opportunities in the hospitality sector at a variety of levels. Jobs available in these areas include:

- Front Office Receptionist
- Chef de Partie
- Restaurant Supervisor
- Beverage Supervisor
- Events Organiser.

This qualification also supports learners who are following an Apprenticeship in hospitality and who are looking to progress and work in the sector. The jobs available to them will be based on their ability in the hospitality industry and will be supported by their achievement of these qualifications.

After achieving a qualification, while learners can progress directly to entry-level job roles, it is likely that many will do so via higher study. For example:

- BSc (Hons) in Business and Hospitality Management
- BSc (Hons) in International Tourism with Hospitality Management
- BBA (Hons) in Culinary Industry Management
- BA (Hons) in International Hospitality Management
- BSc (Hons) in Event Management.

NB: learners should always check the entry requirements for degree programmes with the relevant higher education provider.

How do these qualifications provide transferable employability skills?

In the BTEC International Level 3 units, there are opportunities during the teaching and learning phase to give learners practice in developing employability skills. Where we refer to employability skills in this specification, we are generally referring to skills in the following three main categories:

- cognitive and problem-solving skills – using critical thinking, approaching non-routine problems, applying expert and creative solutions, using systems and technology
- interpersonal skills – communicating, working collaboratively, negotiating and influencing, self-presentation
- intrapersonal skills – self-management, adaptability and resilience, self-monitoring and development.

There are also specific requirements in some units for assessment of these skills where relevant, for example where learners are required to undertake real or simulated activities. These skills are indicated in the units and in Appendix 2: Transferable employability skills.

How do the qualifications provide transferable knowledge and skills for higher education?

All BTEC International Level 3 qualifications provide transferable knowledge and skills that prepare learners for progression to higher education. The transferable skills that higher education providers value include the ability to:

- learn independently
- research actively and methodically
- give presentations and be active group members.

BTEC learners can also benefit from opportunities for deep learning, where they are able to make connections across units and select areas of interest for detailed study. BTEC International Level 3 qualifications provide a vocational context in which learners can develop the knowledge and skills required for particular degree courses, including:

- effective writing
- analytical skills
- creative development
- preparation for assessment methods used in a degree.

Employer involvement in assessment and delivery

You are encouraged to give learners opportunities to be involved with employers. For more information, please see Section 4 Planning your programme.

3 Units

Understanding your units

The units in this specification set out our expectations of assessment in a way that helps you to prepare your learners for assessment. The units help you to undertake assessment and quality assurance effectively.

Each unit in the specification is set out in a similar way. This section explains how the units work. It is important that all teachers, assessors, internal verifiers and other staff responsible for the programme review this section.

Section	Explanation
Unit number	The number is in a sequence in the sector. Numbers may not be sequential for an individual qualification.
Unit title	This is the formal title that we always use, it appears on certificates.
Level	All units are at Level 3.
Unit type	This shows if the unit is internal or assessed using a Pearson Set Assignment. See structure information in Section 2 Structure for details.
Guided Learning Hours (GLH)	Units have a GLH value of 60. This indicates the numbers of hours of teaching, directed activity and assessment expected. It also shows the weighting of the unit in the final qualification grade.
Unit in brief	This is a brief formal statement on the content of the unit that is helpful in understanding its role in the qualification. You can use this in summary documents, brochures, etc.
Unit introduction	This is written with learners in mind. It indicates why the unit is important, how learning is structured and how it might be applied when they progress to employment or higher education.
Assessment	For internal set assignment units, this section states whether Pearson Set Assignments are required to be completed.
Learning aims	These help to define the scope, style and depth of learning of the unit. You can see where learners should be learning standard requirements ('understand') or where they should be actively researching ('investigate'). You can find out more about the verbs we use in learning aims in Appendix 4: Glossary of terms used.
Summary of unit	This section helps teachers to see at a glance the main content areas given against the learning aims and the structure of the assessment. The content areas and structure of assessment must be covered. The forms of evidence given are suitable to fulfil the requirement.

Section	Explanation
Content	This section sets out the required teaching content of the unit. Content is compulsory except when shown as 'e.g.'. Learners should be asked to complete summative assessment only after the teaching content for the unit or learning aim(s) has been covered.
Assessment criteria	Each learning aim has Pass and Merit criteria. Each assignment has at least one Distinction criterion. A full glossary of terms used is given in Appendix 4: Glossary of terms used. All assessors need to understand our expectations of the terms used. Distinction criteria represent outstanding performance in the unit. Some criteria require learners to draw together learning from across the learning aims.
Essential information for assignments	This shows the maximum number of assignments that may be used for the unit to allow for effective summative assessment and how the assessment criteria should be used to assess performance. For Pearson Set Assignment units, this section will include any conditions for taking the assignment.
Further information for teachers and assessors	This section gives you information to support the implementation of assessment. It is important that this is read carefully alongside the assessment criteria, as the information will help with interpretation of the requirements.
Resource requirements	Any specific resources that you need to be able to teach and assess are listed in this section. For information on support resources, see Section 10 Resources and support.
Essential information for assessment decisions	This section gives guidance on and examples for each learning aim or assignment of the expectations for Pass, Merit and Distinction standard.
Assessment controls	This section gives details of the rules that learners need to abide by when taking the assessment.
Links to other units	This section shows you the main relationships between different units. This helps you to structure your programme and make best use of available materials and resources.
Employer involvement	This section gives you information on the units, which can be used to involve learners with employers. This will help you to identify the kind of involvement that is likely to be most successful.
Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills	This section gives you guidance on how transferable employability skills might be developed in teaching and assessment of the unit.

Level: 3
Unit type: Pearson Set Assignment
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop knowledge and understanding of the hospitality industry, the current trading environment and how the hospitality industry responds to trends and changes in different scenarios.

Unit introduction

This unit gives you the knowledge that will be relevant to all other units in this qualification. You will develop an overview of the importance of the hospitality industry within the economy in terms of its scale, scope and diversity. You will investigate the commercial and catering services sectors of the industry, and develop an understanding of the operations that provide accommodation, catering and related services. You will explore the diverse types of ownership, products and services offered, as well as customer types.

You will use a range of business analysis tools to determine the current trading environment for hospitality businesses at both a local and national level and will be able to understand how hospitality businesses react to and develop in response to current trends and changes in the consumer market.

Assessment

This unit has a Pearson Set Assignment Brief. Learners must complete a Pearson Set Assignment Brief.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Explore the current structure of the hospitality industry

B Investigate the hospitality supply chain

C Use data and information to develop a business response to trends and developments in the hospitality industry.

- support from local business staff as mentors.

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

In completing this unit, learners will have the opportunity to develop research and planning skills.

Unit 2: Environment and Sustainability in the Hospitality Industry

Level: 3
Unit type: Pearson Set Assignment
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop knowledge and understanding of the impact of the hospitality industry on the environment and the measures taken by the hospitality industry to ensure a sustainable environment.

Unit introduction

Sustainability is a way for people to use resources without the resources running out and has become an important issue worldwide. In this unit, you will look at the importance of sustainability in hospitality and what it means in general terms. You will then be able to describe the positive and negative environmental impacts of the hospitality industry, how these are measured and the opportunities that exist to reduce the negative aspects. You will also develop an understanding of the costs and benefits of environmentally friendly practices to different parties, such as waste disposal and use of energy, and the interest groups driving environmentally friendly operations in the context of the hospitality industry.

You will have the opportunity to devise a realistic proposal for an environmental audit considering the needs of customers and the business. You will participate in this audit on your chosen business, making suitable recommendations to reduce any adverse qualities in the hospitality business.

This unit will give you a foundation knowledge and understanding of the importance of sustainability in the hospitality industry and enable you to progress to self-employment or employment in the hospitality industry, training or higher education.

Assessment

This unit has a Pearson Set Assignment Brief. Learners must complete a Pearson Set Assignment Brief.

Essential information for assignments

This unit is assessed using a Pearson Set Assignment Brief. A set assignment must be used to assess learners.

Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- different hospitality organisations to review environmental policies and procedures
- a range of environmental policies used in different hospitality outlets.

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners will produce a comprehensive explanation of the influence of the hospitality industry on the environment and when supporting sustainable policies. This should include any commitments to include shareholders, customers, employees, suppliers, the local community, the government and the environment. Learners should produce an assessment of the influence of hospitality businesses on the environment, to include both positive and negative impacts. There should be a detailed account of why hospitality businesses should maintain sustainable practices. Learners should produce a thorough description of the advantages and challenges of running a sustainable business.

For Merit standard, learners will produce, in some detail, an explanation of the influence of the hospitality industry on the environment and when supporting sustainable policies. This should include any commitments to include some stakeholders, namely customers, employees, suppliers and the local community. Others may be included. Learners should describe, in some detail, the advantages and challenges of running a sustainable business and why it is important to meet these challenges.

For Pass standard, learners should produce an explanation of the impact of the hospitality industry on the environment and the responsibilities to stakeholders in maintaining sustainable policies. Learners should briefly describe the benefits and challenges of running a sustainable business.

Learning aim B

For Distinction standard, learners will plan and carry out research into an environmental issue independently. Learners should produce a detailed presentation that shows how a hospitality business can implement changes to ensure a sustainable environment is maintained. Learners need to ensure that the physical environmental issues are fully addressed. They also need to consider the range of control measures required to ensure a sustainable environment. Learners will evaluate their findings and draw justified conclusions from their research.

For Merit standard, learners will plan and carry out research into an environmental issue, with limited guidance. Learners should produce a detailed presentation that shows how a hospitality business can implement changes to ensure a sustainable environment is maintained. Learners need to ensure that the physical environmental issues are fully addressed. Learners give an analysis of their findings but may not have drawn detailed or justified conclusions.

For Pass standard, learners will plan and carry out research into an environmental issue with guidance. Learners should produce a presentation that shows how a hospitality business can implement changes to ensure a sustainable environment is maintained.

Learning aim C

For Distinction standard, learners will develop a realistic environmental policy to meet the needs of a hospitality business, based on the findings of their research. The policy will include key issues of energy, water, waste, air, food safety, purchasing and supply chains, chemicals and other hazardous materials, refurbishment activities, compliance with environmental regulations, including local, regional or national legislation, and the impact of the organisation on the local community, wildlife habitats and the landscape. The learner will evaluate how the planned policy will meet the needs of the organisation and the likelihood of its success, to include a comprehensive review of the targets set and when they are likely to be met, and who will be responsible for managing the changes. Learners will use appropriate terminology consistently and accurately throughout.

For Merit standard, learners will present a detailed environmental policy, meeting the needs of a hospitality business, based on the findings of their research. The policy will include key issues of energy, water, waste, air, food safety, purchasing and supply chains, chemicals and other hazardous materials, refurbishment activities, compliance with environmental regulations, including local, regional or national legislation, and the impact of the organisation on the local community, wildlife habitats and the landscape. The planned policy will justify how it meets the needs of the organisation and the likelihood of its success, to include a review of the targets set and when they are likely to be met, and who will be responsible for managing the changes. They will use appropriate terminology accurately.

For Pass standard, learners will develop an environmental policy for a hospitality business based on the findings of their research. The policy will include an overview of the key issues of energy, water, waste, air, food safety, purchasing and supply chains, chemicals and other hazardous materials, refurbishment activities, compliance with environmental regulations, including local, regional or national legislation, and the impact of the organisation on the local community, wildlife habitats and the landscape. Learners will explain how the success of the policy may be measured by meeting the needs of the organisation. They will use appropriate terminology.

Assessment controls

Time: this assignment has a recommended time period. This is for advice only and can be adjusted depending on the needs of learners.

Supervision: you should be confident of the authenticity of learner's work. This may mean that learners be supervised.

Resources: all learners should have access to the same types of resources to complete the assignment.

Research: learners should be given the opportunity to carry out research outside of the learning context if required for the assignment.

Employer involvement

This unit would benefit from employer involvement in the form of:

- guest speakers, such as environmental and sustainability officers
- visits to hospitality businesses, to provide learners with a realistic insight into the management and implementation of initiatives.

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

In completing this unit, learners will have the opportunity to develop research and planning skills.

Unit 3: Customer Service Provision in Hospitality

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop the knowledge and skills needed for effective customer service delivery in a hospitality business. Learners will understand the skills needed to provide positive customer service in an organisation and the need to continually improve their customer service skills.

Unit introduction

Issues such as customer satisfaction, brand loyalty, exceeding customer expectations and ensuring repeat custom are critical for the growth, development and success of the hospitality industry. Customer service is extremely important to the success of a hospitality business. A reputation for excellent customer service will help organisations attract and retain customers. Supervisors are an essential factor in guaranteeing the continuity of an active and positive customer service culture in an organisation. This unit looks at how a supervisor can help develop customer service in their business and the part they play in retaining existing customers and attracting new ones.

In this unit, you will develop an understanding of and how to apply excellent customer service, and how to be successful in leading a team to make improvements. You will learn about the importance of exceeding customer wants, needs and expectations and how to encourage customer loyalty. You will develop skills to allow you to deal with a diverse range of customer service situations and ensure a positive result for the customer and the business. This unit will help you to understand how to develop team supervisory skills in the customer service area. You will develop the skills needed to make recommendations and improvements to customer service.

This unit will support you to progress to a higher level of study or employment in a range of job roles across the hospitality industry, including supervisory positions, where a broad range of communication, interpersonal, practical skills and knowledge will be required, including customer service and teamwork skills.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Understand how to develop customer service in a hospitality organisation

B Carry out supervision of customer service in different situations, using appropriate behaviours to meet expectations

C Explore methods to monitor and improve customer service performance.

Essential information for assignments

The recommended structure of assessment is shown in the unit summary, along with suitable forms of evidence. Section 6 Internal assessment gives information on setting assignments and there is also further information on our website.

There is a maximum number of three summative assignments for this unit.
The relationship of the learning aims and criteria is:

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.P2, A.M1, A.M2, A.D1)

Learning aim: B (B.P3, B.P4, B.M3, B.D2)

Learning aim: C (C.P5, C.P6, C.M4, C.D3)

Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to a hospitality work setting. Learners must be allowed to develop and implement customer service improvements for the hospitality business.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners will provide a thorough evaluation of the different types of customer and the complex customer service situations faced by staff in a hospitality business. Learners will give specific, reasoned details relating to organisational objectives and the potential risks and benefits of providing high-quality customer service that complies with the requirements of regulations and best practice. Learners will offer convincing reasons and examples that justify their evaluation and give clear conclusions.

Learners will explain in detail the role of the supervisor in promoting excellent customer service.

Learners will show a thorough knowledge and understanding of how to develop customer service in a hospitality organisation and apply it in context or express their ideas.

For Merit standard, learners will give a balanced breakdown of the potential impacts for a selected hospitality business if it does not respond effectively to a customer needs. The analysis will consider potential impacts that are relevant and appropriate for the chosen organisation. Learners will support their analysis with relevant evidence in terms of specific details and examples of potential impacts to the business and customers.

Learners will explain in some detail the role of the supervisor in promoting excellent customer service.

Learners will show a good understanding of the relevant factors used to develop customer service in a hospitality organisation.

For Pass standard, learners will explain the key factors that affect customer service provision in a hospitality business. Learners will also explain the potential positive impacts for an organisation that delivers excellent customer service.

Learners must give a realistic explanation of the reasons why a hospitality business should manage customer expectations. The explanation may be unbalanced or superficial or generic in parts.

Learners will explain the role of the supervisor in promoting excellent customer service.

Learners will show an understanding of most of the relevant factors but may make limited use of supporting evidence for their explanations.

Learning aims B and C

Although laid out separately Learning aims B and C should be assessed together.

For Distinction standard, learners must consistently demonstrate initiative, professionalism and responsibility in using communication and interpersonal skills to resolve customer situations successfully as they arise. Learners will deal effectively with customer behaviour and show a high degree of empathy, within the limits of their own responsibility and accepted guidelines. Learners will consistently demonstrate initiative in understanding and solving problems in customer service situations in order to ensure an effective outcome for both the customer and the hospitality business. Learners will always demonstrate a professional attitude and comprehensive knowledge of relevant procedures, successfully balancing the interests of the customer with the interests and requirements of the hospitality business. They will show their ability to understand and manage situations effectively and fully comply with good-practice requirements.

Learners will make convincing recommendations about effective methods that could be used by a hospitality business to improve the quality of customer service. Learners will provide well-selected evidence to justify their recommendations, demonstrating a thorough investigation of the potential methods, including valid references to the use of technology. Learners may offer multiple solutions and will consider possible alternatives in line with the objectives of the hospitality business. All recommendations will be valid, well considered and demonstrate an in-depth understanding of the most successful methods used in effective customer service. The evidence will demonstrate high-quality written communication through the use of accurate and fluent vocabulary to support a well-structured and considered response.

Learners will make reasoned judgements to justify recommendations as to how the customer service can be improved.

For Merit standard, learners must demonstrate that they have the knowledge and skills to deal with customers in different customer-related situations confidently and effectively, and provide an efficient written response. Learners will deal confidently with customer behaviour in a way that achieves positive outcomes to problems or complaints for both the customer and the hospitality business. They will show a clear understanding of the problems or complaints in each situation, as well as a clear understanding of the customer's feelings or point of view. Learner conduct in all the customer service situations will be entirely appropriate and their knowledge of relevant customer service requirements and practice will be sound.

Learners will produce a balanced analysis of the methods used by a selected hospitality business with a clear and coherent detailed plan to improve standards of customer service and increase customer loyalty. In doing so, learners will methodically investigate the customer service methods, assessing their suitability. This will include demonstrating a clear understanding of the importance of technology in customer service and a review of how it is used. Learners will demonstrate an appreciation of the relative significance of different factors involved in monitoring and reviewing customer service and the relationships between these factors and the objectives of the selected organisation. The evidence will be structured, with good-quality written communication and use of appropriate terminology.

For Pass standard, learners will demonstrate competent communication and social skills appropriate to meet customer needs in different customer service situations.

Learners will apply their customer service knowledge and skills to deal competently with customer service situations, to achieve an appropriate and acceptable outcome for both the customer and the hospitality business. There will be no unacceptable omissions in the customer service knowledge and skills evidenced by learners. However, the application of knowledge and skills might be limited in scope or depth. Learners will show a limited amount of empathy for the customer. They will demonstrate an understanding of key aspects of the customer problems or complaints. However, learner understanding of these key aspects and the potential consequences of not resolving them might be superficial in parts.

Learners will show a broad understanding of most of the key methods and factors used by a selected organisation and produce a basic plan with suggestions on how to improve standards of customer service and increase customer loyalty. They will also give an appropriate explanation of how customer service is monitored and reviewed, including the use of technology in order to improve the customer experience in line with the objectives of the selected organisation. There will be references to the goals of improving levels of customer service, but they may be superficial in parts. The evidence may be limited in scope or make superficial use of supporting evidence. Some minor inaccuracies may exist.

Where possible, employers should be involved with this unit by providing opportunities for learners to visit their businesses, speakers with appropriate expertise to talk to learners and possible work placements.

The practical part of this unit, where learners are required to provide customer service to customers in simulated or real situation, should take place in a hospitality vocational context. If there is no suitable situation in the centre, then a link with a local employer or collaboration with a local college with realistic hospitality work environments could facilitate this.

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

In completing this unit, learners will have the opportunity to develop the skills needed to progress to employment in a customer-facing role.

Unit 4: The Principles of Leadership and Supervision

Level: 3
Unit type: Pearson Set Assignment
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners examine the theories of leadership and supervision to inform their role and allow them to perform their responsibilities as supervisors in hospitality contexts effectively.

Unit introduction

In order to ensure that objectives are met, hospitality businesses need effective managers and supervisors. These individuals need to understand what motivates others to build successful working relationships and shape strong teams that are able to meet the objectives of the business.

In this unit, you will gain an understanding of how individuals are motivated and how your role as a supervisor is crucial in forging relationships with co-workers. You will gain the knowledge that will allow you to create a culture of mutual understanding and respect, which you will use to meet the business objectives you will set.

Assessment

This unit has a Pearson Set Assignment Brief. Learners must complete a Pearson Set Assignment Brief.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Examine the leadership and motivation skills required for effective team management

B Investigate how to build an effective team to meet business objectives

C Apply effective leadership and team building theory to a range of situations in a hospitality context.

Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Qualifications in Hospitality (Jordan) – Specification – Issue 1 – February 2024 © Pearson Education Limited 2024

B3 Causes of team conflict

- Bell and Hart's eight causes of conflict: conflicting resources, conflicting work styles, conflicting perceptions, conflicting goals, conflicting pressures, conflicting roles, different personal values, unpredictable policies.
- Non-compliance with rules and policies: personal non-compliance or disregard for company policy by colleagues (discriminatory behaviour, unacceptable language, poor attendance and timekeeping).
- Misunderstandings: poor communication leading to misunderstandings.
- Competition/rivalry: competition instead of collaboration, anti-productive behaviour.

Learning aim C: Apply effective leadership and team building theory to a range of situations in a hospitality context

C1 Planning and supervising the work of hospitality teams

- Purpose of and process of planning techniques:
  - skills audit
  - needs/aspirations of individual team members
  - allocation of work roles
  - establishing SMART (specific, measurable, achievable, realistic, time-bound) objectives
  - establishing/using standards
  - daily and weekly work rotas.
- Types, purpose and setting of objectives:
  - organisational
  - departmental
  - section
  - short/medium term
  - financial
  - social
  - performance
  - personal
  - clear articulation of performance expectations.

C2 Monitoring, supporting and developing team performance

- Purpose and process of monitoring and reviewing team performance and achievement:
  - ensuring inclusive and equitable learning opportunities for all team members
  - use of performance indicators
  - regular review of performance against targets
  - reviewing and evaluating work performance
  - review of work allocation
  - possible adaption or reallocation of tasks
  - conducting appraisal interviews.

- Purpose and process of support and development of team members performing below target:
  - capacity to support all team members
  - possible revision of individual and team responsibilities
  - reviewing and evaluating individual and team working arrangements
  - application of corrective measures to remedy individual and team underachievement
  - maintaining individual and team focus.

C3 Purpose and process of supervisory responsibilities

- Briefing and debriefing team members.
- Communication.
- Direction of team members.
- Supporting team members.
- Coaching.
- Mentoring.
- Planned team member development.
- Maintaining and developing effective working relationships.
- Maintaining quality.

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners will discuss the range of leadership styles and how these leadership styles impact on the performance of workplace teams. Learners will be able to discuss the types of motivation and the range of motivational theories and how these can be applied, along with the leadership and personal skills required in hospitality businesses, to build effective teams.

For Merit standard, learners will discuss the range of leadership styles and how these leadership styles impact on the performance of workplace teams. Learners will be able to discuss the types of motivation and some of the motivational theories and how these can be applied, along with the leadership and personal skills required in hospitality businesses, to build effective teams.

For Pass standard, learners will discuss some of the leadership styles and how these leadership styles can impact on the performance of workplace teams. Learners will be able to discuss the types of motivation and some of the motivational theories and how these can be applied to individuals and teams.

Learning aim B

For Distinction standard, learners will recognise and discuss all the stages of team development in a range of different teams and in complex situations. Learners will be able to apply team role theory to build effective teams for different purposes and discuss how individual contributions can impact on team dynamics. Learners will also recognise and discuss causes of conflict in a range of complex situations, providing justified strategies for reducing conflict and how dysfunctional teams impact in different situations.

For Merit standard, learners will recognise and discuss most of the stages of team development in a range of different teams and in different situations. Learners will be able to apply team role theory to build effective teams for different purposes and recognise how individuals can change team dynamics. Learners will also discuss causes of conflict in a range of situations, providing strategies for reducing these.

For Pass standard, learners will recognise and discuss some of the stages of team development in a range of teams in straightforward situations. Learners will be able to describe team role theory and how it can be used to build effective teams and recognise the causes of conflict in a range of simple situations and the methods used to reduce conflict.

Learning aim C

For Distinction standard, learners will apply all the different leadership styles and motivational and team building theories to a range of workplace situations, explaining the reasons for continually monitoring the work of teams and the review of strategies. To achieve a Distinction, they will need to show progress in their objectives across all areas in which leadership was demonstrated.

For Merit standard, learners will apply most of the different leadership styles and motivational and team building theories to a range of workplace situations, explaining some of the reasons for continual monitoring and review. They will show progress against some of their objectives.

For Pass standard, learners will apply some of the leadership styles and motivational and team building theories to simple workplace situations. Learners will explain some of the reasons for monitoring teams and reviewing strategies.

Assessment controls

Time: this assignment has a recommended time period. This is for advice only and can be adjusted depending on the needs of learners.

Supervision: you should be confident of the authenticity of learner's work. This may mean that learners be supervised.

Resources: all learners should have access to the same types of resources to complete the assignment.

Research: learners should be given the opportunity to carry out research outside of the learning context if required for the assignment.

Unit 5: Cost Control for Hospitality Supervisors

Level: 3
Unit type: Pearson Set Assignment
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop an understanding of the principles of goods selection, costing and pricing, and the use of financial statements to measure hospitality business performance. They will develop the skills needed to manage the control and to be able to apply accounting methods for resources.

Unit introduction

The purchase and control of resources is a vital part of running any hospitality organisation. The resources used within hospitality organisations can range from food, to cleaning materials, and fixtures and fittings. Accounting methods will need to be used to control and carry out audits of how these resources are used.

This unit will introduce you to how physical resources within the hospitality industry are selected, controlled and accounted for. You will explore fundamental principles relating to how goods are selected and the criteria that need to be applied in order to make these decisions.

You will also explore aspects of costing, pricing and operational finance procedures used in the day-to-day operation of hospitality businesses. You will examine basic concepts and procedures and learn to apply them in relevant industry scenarios.

As future supervisors, you will develop the knowledge and skills to interpret, understand and explain basic operational financial information used in the hospitality industry. This is an important part of operational requirements, encompassing key responsibilities in the hospitality industry, and this knowledge will be readily transferable across the industry.

Assessment

This unit has a Pearson Set Assignment Brief. Learners must complete a Pearson Set Assignment Brief.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Investigate the principles of goods selection in hospitality

B Carry out costing and pricing activities for hospitality products and services

C Use financial Information to measure hospitality business performance.

Content

Learning aim A: Investigate the principles of goods selection in hospitality

A1 The purchasing cycle

The requirements and the importance of each stage of the purchasing process and the ability of a hospitality business to achieve its organisational goals.

- Need.
- Specification.
- Select supplier.
- Negotiate.
- Purchase order.
- Delivery.
- Inspection.
- Goods into stock.
- Invoice checking.
- Payment.
- Documentation:
  - purchase order
  - delivery note
  - invoice
  - goods received note
  - credit note
  - goods returned note.

A2 Goods selection criteria

- The factors that should be taken into account when selecting goods:
  - suitability for purpose, new/second-hand
  - price
  - financial constraints
  - availability
  - lead time
  - physical considerations (access, delivery, storage)
  - upkeep (maintenance, replacement, service agreements)
  - contracts, terms and conditions
  - quality of goods.

A3 Controlling and recording the movement of stock

- Setting minimum/maximum stock levels.
- Delivery and inspection of purchased goods.
- Storage for profit, e.g. correct temperature, FIFO (First In First Out), LILO (Last In Last Out).
- Recording mechanisms, e.g. manual, computerised.
- Issuing goods.
- Reorder levels.
- Stocktaking, e.g. continuous, random, planned.
- Safety and security of storage.

Learning aim B: Carry out costing and pricing activities for hospitality products and services

The types of cost and ways that these can be controlled within the hospitality industry. The methods of pricing that can be applied to different goods and services within the hospitality industry and the factors that need to be taken in to account when costing and pricing a range of goods and services.

B1 Calculating and controlling costs

- Categories of costs:
  - fixed costs – do not change in relation to how much output a business produces, e.g. rent, rates, salaries, insurance
  - variable costs – change in proportion to the amount of output produced or amount sold, e.g. wages, energy, commission
  - direct costs – that can be identified directly with the production of a good or service
  - indirect costs – these cannot be matched against each product because they need to be paid whether or not the production of good or services takes place
  - apportioned costs – the distribution of various overhead items, in proportion, to the department on a logical basis.
- Controlling costs and identifying lost profits:
  - setting and managing budgets
  - correct storage
  - waste reduction
  - stock taking and valuation, LILO, FIFO
  - forecasting, sales, labour, room occupancy
  - checking portions
  - monitoring proportions
  - monitoring food cost prices.

B2 Methods of pricing

- Cost-plus.
- Mark-up.
- Gross profit margin.
- Market rate.
- Full/marginal costing.
- Discounts.
- Subsidised pricing.
- Service charges.
- Menu pricing:
  - types of menu, e.g. table d'hôte, à la carte, buffet
  - menu planning for profit, e.g. cross utilisation of ingredients, buying in bulk, use of seasonal ingredients, use of specials for slow-selling or surplus ingredients
  - menu sales mix and its effect on profit
  - pricing strategies, e.g. price discrimination (Early Bird), price bundling, added value
  - packages, discounting
  - calculating break-even points.

- Dish costing:
  - standard recipes
  - standard yields
  - shrinkage
  - portion control.
- Beverage costing:
  - standard purchasing units
  - standard serving measures.
- Accommodation costing:
  - accommodation fixed costs and their effect on costing and pricing
  - accommodation variable costs and their effect on costing and pricing
  - adding profit margins
  - occupancy rates and their effect on costing
  - yield management of rooms (RevPAR – Revenue Per Available Room)
  - costing accommodation packages.
- Function/banqueting costing:
  - costing of complex catering events.

Learning aim C: Use financial information to measure hospitality business performance

The purpose and source of different financial information that can be interpreted to determine the success or otherwise of a hospitality business.

C1 The purpose and use of financial information

- Measure the performance of the business.
- Compare actual with forecasts.
- Judge effectiveness of different departments and managers.
- Highlight necessary changes.
- Enable funds to be raised.
- Satisfy statutory requirements.

C2 The sources of financial information

- Operating statement.
- Trading profit and loss account.
- Balance sheet.
- Cash flow statement.
- Budgets.
- Sales statistics.
- Sales forecasts.
- Food and beverage cost reports.
- Costed recipes.
- Costed issue sheets.
- Wage reports.

C3 Financial information

- Sales income.
- Sales mix.
- Cost of sales ratios.
- Variable (controllable) expenses actual and ratios.
- Wages actual and ratio.
- Net profit.
- Gross profit actual and gross profit ratio.
- Room occupancy.
- Sleeper occupancy.
- Average spends.
- Seat and table turnover.
- Liquidity ratios.
- Acid test.

Resource requirements

There are no special resources needed for this unit.

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners will evaluate the use of documentation to support the purchasing cycle, to determine goods selection criteria and to further control the movement of goods within a business to reduce wastage and maintain profits.

For Merit standard, learners will evaluate the use of documentation to support the purchasing cycle and to determine goods selection criteria. Learners will discuss how hospitality businesses control the movement of stock and how this can maintain profits.

For Pass standard, learners will explain, in simple terms, how the purchasing cycle is followed and the relevant documentation is used to procure goods and services and how hospitality businesses control the movement of stock.

Learning aim B

For Distinction standard, learners will apply costing procedures to a range of complex hospitality products and services. These costings will be precise and accurate and contain no errors. Learners will be able to apply suitable gross profit margins to a range of products and services in order to allow profit to be made from these items.

For Merit standard, learners will apply costing procedures to a range of complex hospitality products and services. These costings will be accurate and contain few, if any, errors. Learners will be able to apply suitable gross profit margins to a range of products and services in order to allow profit to be made from these items.

For Pass standard, learners will apply costing procedures for simple hospitality products and services. These costings will be mostly accurate; however they may contain errors. Learners will be able to identify, through basic calculations, the break-even point of simple products and services.

Learning aim C

For Distinction standard, learners will use a range of simple and complex financial data to arrive at a justified conclusion about the financial performance of a hospitality business. Learners should be able to determine positive and negative financial performance and make justified recommendations for improvement.

For Merit standard, learners will use a range of simple and complex financial data to arrive at a conclusion about the financial performance of a hospitality business. Learners should be able to determine positive and negative financial performance and identify areas for improvement.

For Pass standard, learners will identify and explain the use of the different types and sources of financial information. Learners will be able to use simple financial data to arrive at a conclusion about the financial performance of a hospitality business.

Assessment controls

Time: this assignment has a recommended time period. This is for advice only and can be adjusted depending on the needs of learners.

Supervision: you should be confident of the authenticity of learner's work. This may mean that learners be supervised.

Employer involvement

This unit would benefit from employer involvement in the form of:

- guest speakers from purchasing and finance departments
- advice and guidance on the purchasing cycle, goods and services procurement and examples of the documents involved in this process.

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

In completing this unit, learners will have the opportunity to develop skills in analysing and interpreting financial data.

Unit 8: Supervise Food and Beverage Service

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop an understanding of the importance of the meal experience in food and drink service and the skills needed to prepare, provide and review provision of food and drink service.

Unit introduction

Food and beverage service is only as successful as the staff who deliver the service to customers. In this unit, you will develop the skills and knowledge needed for a variety of food service concepts. You will explore the factors involved in the meal experience. You will have the opportunity to relate to issues concerning quality, skills levels, satisfaction, service and environment to customer expectations in a variety of food service operations, and suggest improvements. The knowledge and skills acquired in this unit will prepare you for a supervisory role in a food service business. You will need to organise the preparation and layout of a food service operation, considering various factors, such as equipment, staff organisation and customer needs. You will need to show a professional approach and practical customer service and food service skills. Throughout the unit you will have the opportunity to develop the skills appropriate to a range of different businesses, such as restaurants, fast food concessions, food courts and coffee shops.

This unit will support you to progress to a higher level of study or employment in a range of job roles across the hospitality industry, including supervisory positions, where a broad range of communication, interpersonal, practical skills and knowledge will be required, including food and drink service skills.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Investigate the importance of the meal experience

B Demonstrate supervision of the preparation and service of a food and beverage operation

C Review food and beverage service.

Summary of unit

Learning aim	Key content areas	Assessment approach
A Investigate the importance of the meal experience	A1 The meal experience A2 Food and beverage service methods A3 Food and beverage service styles	Detailed written work that examines the meal experience and considers the different factors in food and beverage service methods and styles.
B Demonstrate supervision of the preparation and service of a food and beverage operation	B1 Service area preparation B2 Service area layout B3 Team briefing	A practical demonstration of supervision in a food and beverage operation of the centre's choice. Supported by a detailed evaluation of the service.
C Review food and beverage service	C1 Monitor the service C2 Review the service

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- a realistic working environment
- restaurant equipment.

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners will produce a comprehensive presentation evaluating the factors that make up the meal experience. The presentation will cover, in detail, the service methods used in food and beverage service and evaluate the different types of food and beverage service style. The presentation will show an in-depth understanding of a variety of food service operations. Learners must show an in-depth understanding of the topic and assess the importance of the meal experience, depending on the food service style and operation.

For Merit standard, learners will produce a presentation evaluating the factors that make up the meal experience. The presentation will cover, in some detail, the service methods used in food and beverage service and compare the different types of food and beverage service style. The presentation will cover a few food service operations. Learners must show some detailed understanding of the topic and assess the importance of the meal experience, depending on the food service style and operation.

For Pass standard, learners will produce a presentation about the factors that make up the meal experience. The presentation will briefly cover the service methods used in food and beverage service and the different types of food and beverage service style. The presentation will cover food service operations. Learners must show understanding of the topic.

Learning aims B and C

Although laid out separately Learning aims B and C should be assessed together.

For Distinction standard, learners will supervise the food and beverage operation, preparation and service independently. Learners will follow their detailed comprehensive service plan and instruct others in the team competently to carry out their duties. Learners will work in an organised manner competently carrying out a detailed staff briefing prior to service. Learners will ensure the service area is ready for service on time in line with the service brief.

The manager/assessor will provide an observation record of the learner's performance during the preparation and service.

Learners will produce a comprehensive detailed action plan evaluating and recommending improvements for future service.

For Merit standard, learners will supervise the food and beverage operation, preparation and service independently. Learners will follow their detailed service plan and instruct others in the team to carry out their duties. Learners will work in an organised manner, carrying out a staff briefing prior to service. Learners will ensure the service area is ready for service on time in line with the service brief.

The manager/assessor will provide an observation record of the learner's performance during the preparation and service.

Learners will produce a detailed action plan assessing and recommending improvements for future service.

For Pass standard, learners will supervise the food and beverage operation, preparation and service with some support. Learners will follow a service plan and instruct others in the team. Learners will work in an organised manner, carrying out a staff briefing prior to service. Learners will ensure the service area is ready for service on time in line with the service brief, with some support.

The manager/assessor will provide an observation record of the learner's performance during the preparation and service.

Learners will produce an action plan, recommending improvements for future service.

This unit links to Unit 3: Customer Service Provision in Hospitality.

Employer involvement

Visits and work experience with local food and drink service providers would provide learners with an insight into food and drink service and help them develop the skills required in different businesses providing food and drink service. Developing hospitality industry links would enhance the delivery of this unit.

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

In completing this unit, learners will develop their supervision and planning skills.

Unit 10: Supervision of Food Safety in Hospitality

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners examine the working practices and procedures that promote food safety by improving understanding of their role in the working environment.

Unit introduction

All hospitality businesses are bound by law to operate in a safe manner; a very important aspect of this is food safety. Businesses need employees who are conversant with food safety management systems and who can work effectively in applying, monitoring and recording all relevant aspects of food safety to help contribute to business growth and success.

The supervisory aspects of food safety are a significant part of the unit, and you will explore the relevance of current food safety legislation and its importance for staff, customers and organisations. In addition, the storage, preparation, cooking and service of food must be carried out in such a manner as to prevent contamination. In this unit, you will examine food safety management systems, learning how to apply the procedures needed in order to gain an understanding of how legislation works to protect employees and customers. This will involve you designing a food safety risk assessment and implementing realistic control measures to reduce the risk of injury or illness arising from food safety hazards. The knowledge you will gain and the skills developed will allow you to process information relating to safe practices and to identify issues of non-compliance that could result in an outbreak of food poisoning, or ill health of an employee or customer.

The unit will ensure that as a supervisor or prospective supervisor you receive training in food safety management systems to develop and implement food safety management procedures that are appropriate for their responsibilities.

Learning aims

A Understand the importance of maintaining food safety

B Carry out the monitoring of food hygiene practices in different hospitality situations

C Understand how to implement food safety management procedures.

Content

Learning aim A: Understand the importance of maintaining food safety

A1 Importance of food safety

Importance of food safety and the role of the supervisor in hospitality organisations.

- Safe food handling and behaviour:
  - ensuring that proper safe working and food handling practices are in place and applied
  - monitoring and recording of safe working and food handling practices, identifying critical control points and critical limits: ensuring the effectiveness of control measures for different hazards
  - knowing how different conditions impact on the effectiveness of control measures
  - taking corrective actions and introducing measures for improvement.
- Legal requirements: personal, business.
- Duty of care: benefits of high standards of food safety to the organisation and the good health and wellbeing for all, the consequences and costs associated with food poisoning outbreaks and ill health, customer satisfaction.
- Purpose of food safety risk assessment:
  - enable hospitality organisations to comply with the requirement for a documented food safety management system, and to comply with relevant legislation
  - assist an organisation to implement systems and methods to keep food safe
  - help an organisation to train staff in food safety compliance: help to protect an organisation's reputation.

A2 Importance of food safety systems

- Food safety systems: assist an organisation to implement systems and methods to keep food safe, help an organisation to train staff, help to protect an organisation's reputation.
- Methods and procedures for controlling food safety: ensuring that safe working and food handling practices are in place and applied, monitoring and recording safe working and food handling practices, identifying critical control points and critical limits, ensuring the effectiveness of control measures for different hazards, knowing how different conditions impact on the effectiveness of control measures, taking corrective actions and introducing measures for improvement.
- Evaluating food safety controls and procedures: adjusting food safety management procedures when a review indicates control methods are ineffective, reviewing factors that require an immediate response to the food safety procedures, implementing relevant changes to food safety procedures, communicating to relevant staff any changes to food safety procedures, monitoring and verifying new procedures.

Learning aim B: Carry out the monitoring of food hygiene practices in different hospitality situations

B1 Key features of food hygiene practices

Key factors of good practice in food hygiene.

- Temperature control:
  - importance of temperature control, prevent the growth of food poisoning bacteria, complying with legislation, maintaining safe standards
  - legal temperature requirements for the business need
  - methods for measuring temperature, including in-place devices, air temperature monitoring systems, electronic probe thermometers, methods of calibration
  - taking and recording temperature readings, cleaning and disinfecting probe, taking fridge and freezer temperatures frequently, taking product temperatures as required, inserting probe between packs for fridge and freezer temperatures, inserting into thickest part of products if undertaking product sampling, recording all routine and product sampling temperatures, reporting temperatures out of acceptable range.
- Controlling contamination:
  - physical, including glass, plastic, jewellery, hair, fingernails, nuts and bolts and pests
  - biological, including spoilage bacteria, pathogens, yeasts and moulds
  - chemical, including pesticides, cleaning products, natural toxins, e.g. from red kidney beans
  - allergenic, including nuts, milk, cereals, eggs, shellfish, sesame seeds, soya, celery and mustard
  - cross contamination, including raw food, cooked food, high-risk food.
- Personal hygiene:
  - hygiene of hands, including when to wash hands, how to wash hands
  - cuts and grazes, skin infections, spots and boils, cover with waterproof dressing
  - personal grooming, including hair, jewellery, perfume, make-up
  - clothing, including washable or disposable, no outside clothing in food areas
  - exclusion of food handlers, including if suffering from sickness or diarrhoea, if suffering from contagious illness, with serious skin infections.
- Cleanliness and food hygiene: food storage areas, food preparation areas, work surfaces, equipment, utensils, food waste areas.
- Methods of cleaning and use of cleaning materials: detergents, disinfectants, sanitisers, disposable cloths, colour-coded equipment − cloths, brushes, mops, correct use and storage of cleaning chemicals, use of dishwashing machines.
- Six-stage cleaning process: pre-clean, main clean, intermediate rinse, disinfection, final rinse, dry.
- Cleaning and disinfecting schedules: breaking the contamination chain, what needs to be cleaned, how the cleaning will be carried out, when cleaning needs to be done − daily, weekly, monthly, as required, who will carry out the cleaning.
- Disposal of waste: use of suitable containers, disposal of food, recycling, hazardous waste, external collection and general waste.
- Pest control: importance of pest control and the impact of infestation, reducing spread of bacteria and cross-contamination, complying with relevant food safety legislation, maintaining food safety, maintaining a healthy environment, creating a good first impression.

- Common pests, signs of pests and specific hazards from pests: rodents, birds, flies and flying insects, cockroaches, ants, beetles and weevils.
- Supervisor's role in reducing risk and eradicating pests: effective cleaning, taking action to prevent pests, checking for problems and infestation, investigating reports of pest sightings, reporting problems, physical and chemical controls, use of private contractors.

B2 Monitoring food hygiene practice

Being aware of the resources required for monitoring of food hygiene practice and influencing factors.

- Resources: staff, materials, equipment.
- Influencing factors: production systems, equipment, food safety, staff training, kitchen design.

B3 Complete food safety risk assessment

Carry out food safety risk assessments in different hospitality areas.

- Hospitality areas: restaurant, kitchen and beverage area.
- Food safety risk assessments: identifying risks to food, what can go wrong, when and where, identifying controls needed to be put in place to prevent these food safety risks, what can be done to prevent it going wrong, ensuring controls are in place and carried out, who is responsible, staff understand their role, ensuring the risk assessments are kept up to date, reviewed according to schedule, keeping records of documents and records showing due diligence and compliance.

Learning aim C: Understand how to implement food safety management procedures

C1 Key features of food storage

Procedures involved in safe food storage.

- Stock rotation: the importance of stock rotation, use-by dates, best before dates, stock rotation systems, first in, first out (FIFO)/last in, last out (LILO), foods exempt from date marking, receiving deliveries and checking for damage, product traceability.
- Dry food storage: cool and dry, dark but with adequate artificial lighting, adequate ventilation, storage off the floor and away from walls, storage in lidded containers.
- Refrigerated storage: siting, access, prevention of cross-contamination, maintenance and cleaning.
- Freezers: siting, access, prevention of cross-contamination, maintenance and cleaning, defrosting.
- Thawing frozen food: defrost in a fridge or thawing cabinet, protect thawing food against contamination, cook immediately following thawing.
- Transporting food: use of vehicles and/or containers, transporting different types of food at the same time, effective cleaning between loads, keeping food at appropriate temperatures and allowing these temperatures to be monitored.

- Cooking safely: follow the manufacturer's cooking instructions for food products (where applicable), preheat equipment before cooking, never use the same utensils, plates or containers for raw and cooked or ready-to-eat food, use of whole cuts, joints and cuts, and joints of appropriate size, ensure liquid dishes, gravy, soups, sauces and stews are simmering and stir them frequently, ensure adequate temperatures to comply with food safety regulations.

C2 Procedures to implement food safety

How to put into effect food safety procedures.

- Safety of goods and commodities: receiving of goods, monitoring of goods received, storing of goods, labelling of products, issuing of commodities, security of storage areas.
- Methods and procedures for controlling food safety: critical control points, critical limits and corrective actions.
- Measures for improvement.

C3 Awareness of food safety monitoring

Purpose and process of monitoring food safety and provision of training.

- Part of hospitality businesses' food safety management systems.
- Legal and regulatory requirement.
- Completing relevant forms.
- Checking the work of others to ensure compliance.
- Checks to include: food delivery checks, food storage temperature checks, cooking and reheating temperature checks, hot holding temperature checks, thermometer and probe checks, food date code checks, cleaning checks, including daily, weekly, pest control.
- Provides new staff with the information they need.
- Ensures new staff are fully trained.
- Provision of food safety refresher training, as required.
- Consequences for the business of providing adequate or inadequate training: reducing mistakes, gaining clarification, ensuring understanding, maintaining standards, loss of business.

Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to:

- different hospitality organisations to review food safety documentation and procedures
- range of risk assessments used in different hospitality outlets
- visits to different hospitality organisations to review food safety procedures.

Essential information for assessment decisions

This unit is assessed internally by the centre and externally verified by Pearson.

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners will produce a comprehensive explanation of the importance of food safety and food safety systems to hospitality organisations. Learners will show an in-depth understanding of the responsibilities that employers and employees have in relation to food safety legislation and give a thorough account of how organisations observe food safety.

Learners will provide a thorough assessment of the importance of food safety management procedures for different types of hospitality business.

Learners will produce a thorough assessment of the strengths and weaknesses of different food safety management procedures. Learners should be able to make recommendations for improvements.

For Merit standard, learners will produce, in some detail, an account of why food safety and food safety systems are so important to hospitality organisations. Learners will identify most of the responsibilities that employers and employees have in relation to food safety legislation and give a detailed account of how organisations comply with food safety.

Learners will produce a brief assessment of the importance of appropriate food safety management procedures for different types of hospitality business.

For Pass standard, learners will demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the importance of food safety and the role of the supervisor in hospitality organisations, the responsibilities of employers and employees in respect of food safety and procedures for compliance, and the key features of food safety systems.

Learning aims B and C

Although laid out separately Learning aims B and C should be assessed together.

For Distinction standard, learners will produce a detailed description of all key features of good practice in food hygiene, to include temperature control, controlling contamination, personal hygiene, cleaning and disinfection and pest control.

Learners will carry out food safety risk assessments in three different hospitality businesses while identifying and justifying areas for improvement. Learners will design detailed documentation that could be used to communicate food safety systems.

Learners will produce a review of the impact on a hospitality business of implementing changes recommended by food safety risk assessments. Learners will carry out food safety monitoring in a hospitality business, to include safety of goods and commodities, methods and procedures for controlling food safety and measures for improvement.

Learners will produce an assessment of the measures and procedures used, justifying any recommendations made.

For Merit standard, learners will describe, in some detail, most of the key features of good practice in food hygiene.

Learners will demonstrate a food safety risk assessment process in different hospitality businesses. Learners will design detailed food safety documentation that can be used to communicate information about food safety systems.

Learners will assess some of the methods and procedures for controlling food safety, which may include critical control points, critical limits or corrective actions. Learners will carry out food safety monitoring in a hospitality business, to include safety of goods and commodities, and methods and procedures for controlling food safety.

For Pass standard, learners will show knowledge and understanding of key factors of good food hygiene practices, and an awareness of the resources and factors influencing the monitoring of food hygiene practices.

Learners will demonstrate a food safety risk assessment process. Learners will design food safety documentation that can be used to communicate information about food safety systems and procedures. They will show knowledge and understanding of the processes and procedures involved.

Learners will carry out food safety monitoring in a hospitality business, to include safety of goods and commodities.

Links to other units

This unit links to:

- Unit 2: Environment and Sustainability in the Hospitality Industry
- Unit 8: Supervise Food and Drinks Service.

Employer involvement

An input by a local authority environmental health practitioner would add greatly to the realism of the content relating to kitchen and food safety. Learners should also have the opportunity to visit a large-scale food production centre where either cook-chill or cook-freeze is used as the production system. Learners' work experience placements and part-time employment in the hospitality industry will help them generate evidence for this unit

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

On completing this unit, learners will have opportunities to develop their management, supervision and planning skills.

Unit 12: The Cuisine of Your Country

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop knowledge of the equipment, commodities, storage and cooking methods required to prepare and cook a range of dishes from their country, the historical influences on the dishes, the styles of food and the types of dishes that are prepared and cooked in their country. They will develop skills in preparing, cooking and reviewing the dishes.

Unit introduction

Food has always played an important part in the international hospitality industry. Today with more and more tourists looking to experience authentic cuisine when they travel, it is vital that staff develop a detailed understanding of the food from their country.

In this unit, you will be introduced to the many types and styles of food available in your country and, through structured research and investigation, you will find out about the specific types of equipment, commodities and preparation methods needed to create authentic dishes.

You will develop an appreciation of the historical origins of and cultural influences on the food from your country. You will gain an insight into the foods and the types of dishes that are prepared and cooked today in your country.

You will have the opportunity to practise and develop skills in the preparation and cooking of a range of authentic dishes. An understanding of the relevant health and safety issues relating to food production, service and storage is crucial as you will be expected to follow safe, professional and hygienic working practices.

You will explore the process of reviewing and evaluating specific dishes that you have prepared and cooked and then proposing any appropriate improvements.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Research and plan menus that reflect the styles of food and types of dish that are prepared and cooked in your country

B Demonstrate food preparation and cooking skills

C Evaluate the finished dishes.

Summary of unit

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to commercial catering equipment to ensure they have sufficient opportunity to demonstrate vocational competence in cuisine form their country and its requirements.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners will carry out detailed research using a wide range of sources and evidence this through an annotated portfolio, indicating the influences that have supported the development of the styles and types of food in their country. Learners will use their research to develop advanced sustainable menus that reflect authentic produce, traditional cooking methods and are balanced in terms of texture, colour and taste. Dishes must be nutritionally and financially sound to meet the needs of the business and customers.

For Merit standard, learners will carry out research using a range of sources and evidence this through limited annotations in a portfolio, indicating the influences that have supported the development of food in their country. Learners will use their research to develop sustainable menus that reflect authentic produce, traditional cooking methods and are balanced in terms of texture, colour and taste – however, there may be errors. Dishes will be nutritionally sound and financial considerations will have been taken into account.

For Pass standard, learners will carry out research and evidence this through a portfolio of evidence, which may be annotated. Learners will develop a sustainable menu with reference to the history of food in their country and which is balanced in terms of texture, colour and taste.

Learning aims B and C

For Distinction standard, learners will demonstrate excellent preparation and cooking skills in a safe, hygienic and professional manner. Preparation will be completed to an excellent standard, where appropriate methods, cooking methods and finishing methods will have been planned.

Learners will produce dishes of industry standards, without error, and will meet required timings. Dishes will have been finished, presented, seasoned and balanced to meet the needs of the business.

Learners will collect and use feedback to evaluate the finished dishes and to determine how well each dish meets the needs of the business and its customers. Learners will make recommendations for improvements to the preparation, cooking and finishing methods based on the feedback received.

For Merit standard, learners will demonstrate good preparation and cooking skills in a safe, hygienic and professional manner. Preparation will be completed to a good standard, where appropriate methods, cooking methods and finishing methods will have been planned.

Learners will produce dishes of industry standard, with few errors. The dishes produced will meet required timings; however, there may be delays when presenting the finished product.

Learners will collect and use feedback to evaluate the finished dishes and to determine how well each dish meets the needs of the business and its customers. Learners will make brief recommendations for improvement to the preparation, cooking and finishing methods, which may be based on some elements of feedback received.

For Pass standard, learners will demonstrate preparation and cooking skills in a safe, hygienic and professional manner. Preparation will be completed and appropriate cooking and finishing methods will have been planned. Learners will produce dishes of industry standard, with some errors. The dishes may meet required timings. Learners will collect and use a limited range of feedback to evaluate the finished dishes and to determine how well each dish meets the needs of the business and its customers. Recommendations for improvement are limited.

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

On completing this unit, learners will have opportunities to develop their preparation, cooking and finishing skills.

Unit 15: Front Office Operations

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop knowledge of the structure of front office operations and the supervisory role and requirements, and gain skills to use systems and procedures involved in reservations, check in/out and guest accounting. Learners interpret data and room statistics to assess and improve the performance of front office operations within hospitality businesses.

Unit introduction

The front office is the focal point of most activities within a hospitality business, whether it be a large or small hotel, a cruise liner, a holiday centre, a timeshare resort or a youth hostel. The front office is the first and last place where a guest has direct contact with the business, and is also the most visible of all departments. The front office is a term accepted as including 'back of house' responsibilities, such as switchboard, accounts, cashier and night audit, front desk, concierge and guest services.

In this unit, you will gain a sound understanding of front office operations and supervision. This unit provides an introduction to the world of front office operations. You will develop skills in front office operations, including reservations, guest check in/out and guest accounting procedures. You will be required to use the front office systems. You will also learn about the ways in which data, such as room occupancy statistics, are used to assess performance.

This unit will support your progress to a higher level of study or employment in a range of job roles across the hospitality industry, including supervisory positions, where a broad range of communication, interpersonal, practical skills and knowledge will be required, including front office operation skills.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Investigate the structure, requirements and supervision of front office operations

B Be able to use systems and procedures involved in guest reservations and check in

C Be able to use systems and procedures involved in guest check out and accounting.

Summary of unit

A3 Front office data interpretation and use

- Data: guest histories, sales, mailing lists, databases, accounts, complements, complaints, legal implications.
- Room statistics: room occupancy, sleeper occupancy, average room rates, room yield, revenue per available room (RevPAR), gross operating profit per available room (GOPPAR).
- Assess and improve: revenue, promotions, discounts, forecasting; trends, strategies.

Learning aim B: Be able to use systems and procedures involved in guest reservations and check in Procedures for reservations and check in.

B1 Guest reservation procedure

- Reservations types, including direct requests from customers, travel agents, corporates, central reservation system.
- Types of enquiry: email, internet booking, letter, fax, phone.
- Types of customer, e.g. VIP, corporate, tourist.
- Customer diversity and needs, e.g. special needs, language barriers, culture.
- Types of accommodation, e.g. single, family, interconnected rooms.
- Special requirements, e.g. disabled access; inclusive, e.g. with meals; dietary needs, e.g. gluten free, halal.
- Accommodation availability, e.g. vacancy, arrival and departure lists.
- Tariffs, e.g. cost, deposits.
- Types of booking: provisional, confirmed, guaranteed.

B2 Guest check-in procedure

- Types of customer registration, e.g. electronic and manual systems, automated check-in, guest histories.
- Sourcing records, e.g. customer reservation details, profiles, histories and personal requirements, electronically or manually.
- Issuing keys, e.g. key, electronic key card, biometric access, mobile phone access.
- Taking guest requests, e.g. early morning calls, newspapers.
- Adhering to legal requirements, e.g. relating to guest registration, fire safety, data protection, disability discrimination.

- Communication: one-way, e.g. using public address; two-way; verbal, e.g. face to face, telephone; non-verbal, e.g. written; electronic, e.g. email, internet; listening skills; barriers to communication.
- Trends, e.g. automated check-in.

Learning aim C: Be able to use systems and procedures involved in guest check out and accounting

C1 Guest check out procedure

Procedures and protocol regarding check out.

- Types of customer check out request, e.g. electronic requests, approaching front desk.
- Front office procedures for check out, including:
  - requesting concierge to collect luggage from room, if necessary
  - seeking feedback from customer, e.g. complaint, suggestions
  - offering further services, e.g. transport to airport
  - providing the customer with an invoice/folio for accommodation and extras, e.g. food and beverage, Wi-Fi usage, telephone charges
  - taking payment from customer
  - retrieving key
  - communicating room vacancy to housekeeping.

C2 Front office payments and accounting

Methods and procedures for payments and accounting.

- Systems: manual systems, e.g. tabular ledger, electronic and manual systems, e.g. Electronic Point of Sale (EPOS).
- Types of account, e.g. resident, non-resident, individuals, groups, extras accounts, floor limits.
- Procedures: posting charges (accommodation, beverages, restaurant, room service, sundries, Visitor Paid Outs (VPO), balancing, credit control, bad debts.

Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must have access to fully integrated computerised systems, whether in a real or simulated situation, to carry out role-play activities for guest reservations, check in, check out and accounting.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners must research the hospitality businesses in detail and evaluate their structure, systems and procedures. Learners must produce a detailed, well-developed piece of work that completely describes front office operations and their characteristics. Learners will examine different types of organisational and supervisory practices and procedures, including the attributes and skills of a front office operations supervisor. Learners will assess the different organisational practices, procedures and data. Learners will look at the suitability for different situations to fully meet customer needs, offer convincing reasons and examples that justify their evaluation, and give clear conclusions.

Learners will demonstrate a thorough knowledge and understanding of the department and the supervisor skills and attributes used within front office operations, and apply this in context or express their ideas.

For Merit standard, learners must produce a detailed piece of work that compares front office operations and the organisation of staff. Learners will examine different types of organisational and supervisory practices and procedure, including the staff and methods used in different situations. Learners will compare data from different front office operations.

Learners will demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the department and skills and attributes needed to supervise within front office operations and express their ideas.

For Pass standard, learners produce work that outlines accommodation operations, job roles, supervisor roles, procedures and documents used. Learners will describe types of organisational practice. Learners will describe the different organisational practices, procedures and their suitability for two contrasting businesses.

Learners will demonstrate basic knowledge and understanding of the organisation of staff, methods and data used within front office operations.

Learning aims B

For Distinction standard, learners will independently and confidently organise a guest reservation and check in. They will prepare the documents, information and software needed for the process. They will have all the necessary equipment ready before the reservation and check in. They will work efficiently with the guest and other departments to ensure a successful reservation and check in. All relevant documents/steps will be completed correctly. The learner will monitor the whole process and develop suitable detailed evaluation methods to allow the process to be reviewed and interpreted, making recommendations for improvements.

For Merit standard, learners will independently organise a guest reservation and check in. They will prepare the documents, information and software needed for the process. They will have most of the necessary equipment ready before the reservation and check in. They will work with the guest and other departments to ensure a successful reservation and check in. All relevant documents/steps will be completed almost correctly.

For Pass standard, learners will organise a guest reservation and check in. They will prepare the majority of the documents, information and software needed for the process. They will have most of the necessary equipment ready before the reservation and check in. They will work with the guest and other departments to ensure a successful reservation and check in. All relevant documents/steps will be completed almost correctly, with some support.

Learning aims C

The use of fully integrated computer software is a requirement for learners to fully achieve.

For Distinction standard, learners will independently and confidently organise a check out and guest accounting. They will prepare the documents, information and software needed for the process. They will have all the necessary equipment ready before the check out and guest accounting process. They will work efficiently with the guest and other departments to ensure a successful check out and guest accounting. All relevant documents/steps will be completed correctly. The learner will monitor the whole process and develop suitable detailed evaluation methods to allow the process to be reviewed and interpreted in detailed, making recommendations for improvements.

For Merit standard, learners will independently organise check out and guest accounting, for example room payment. They will prepare the documents, information and software needed for the process. They will have most of the necessary equipment ready before the check out and accounting process. They will work with the guest and other departments to ensure a successful check out and guest accounting. All relevant documents/steps will be completed almost correctly.

- Unit 5: Cost Control for Hospitality Supervisors
- Unit 16: Accommodation Operations
- Unit 21: Technology and Digital Media in Hospitality.

Employer involvement

This unit would benefit from employer involvement in the form of:

- visits to a variety of hospitality operations so that learners can view how their front office operations are conducted
- guest speakers who are able to explain how front office operations are run.

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

On completion on this unit, learners will have opportunities to develop skills in customer-facing roles and dealing with accounting processes.

Unit 16: Accommodation Operations

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners will develop knowledge and understanding of the structure, role and responsibilities of supervisors in accommodation operations, and the methods and documentation used. They will develop skills to clean public areas and service rooms, using appropriate cleaning agents, equipment, resources and methods.

Unit introduction

Accommodation operations is the department where most of the profit may be generated and it is, therefore, important for industry professionals to understand this area and the responsibilities of the accommodation supervisor. Accommodation operations does not relate purely to hotels; it also covers cruise ships, holiday centres, timeshare resorts, halls of residence, residential care homes and the growing private service sector.

In this unit, you will investigate the different roles and responsibilities within a housekeeping team and appreciate the role these teams play in ensuring the smooth running of the business. You will learn about the procedures for cleaning and maintaining a variety of public areas and rooms. You will also learn about how to use, store and work with materials, equipment and chemicals safely.

This unit will support your progress to a higher level of study or employment in a range of job roles across the hospitality industry, including supervisory positions, where a broad range of communication, interpersonal, practical skills and knowledge will be required, including accommodation operation skills.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Investigate the structure, requirements and supervision of accommodation operations

B Be able to clean public areas, using appropriate cleaning agents, equipment, resources and methods

C Be able to service guest rooms, using appropriate cleaning agents, equipment, resources and methods.

Summary of unit

Learning aim	Key content areas	Assessment approach
A Investigate the structure, requirements and supervision of accommodation operations	A1 Hospitality accommodation operations A2 Supervisor responsibilities and skills in accommodation operations	A written report reflecting research into accommodation operations, and a supervisor's skills and responsibility.
B Be able to clean public areas, using appropriate cleaning agents, equipment, resources and methods	B1 Cleaning standard operating procedures in public areas B2 Storage of supplies	A written report reflecting research into the cleaning of public areas. - written or verbal interactions with customers, e.g. telephone, email, face to face
- communicating with other departments, e.g. front office, food and beverage.

Learning aim B: Be able to clean public areas, using appropriate cleaning agents, equipment, resources and methods

B1 Cleaning standard operating procedures in public areas

- Range of public areas requiring cleaning, e.g. hallways, lobbies, restaurant, beverage area, conference rooms.
- Protective clothing, e.g. overalls, gloves.
- Cleaning materials used in different areas, e.g. colour coded dusters and cloths.
- Features of cleaning equipment, e.g. rotary and vacuum cleaners, steam cleaner, scrubbers.
- Cleaning methods, e.g. dust control, damp wiping, mopping, microfibre cleaning, scrubbing, suction cleaning, vacuuming, spot cleaning.
- Cleaning equipment: types, e.g. colour-coded equipment, buckets, cloths, microfibre cloths, non-abrasive pads, mops, brushes, bottle brush, trolley, vacuum cleaner and attachments.
- Cleaning materials: types, e.g. detergents, toilet cleaners, limescale remover, hard surface cleaner, glass cleaner.
- Standard operating procedures for safe cleaning of surfaces, furnishings, fixtures, fittings and floors, including:
  - using cleaning equipment as per manufacturer instructions – enhances safety, timesaving, decreases chances of equipment failure
  - safe cleaning of surfaces, furnishings, fittings and floors using correct products, i.e. (chemicals, water) to ensure dust and debris free, waste removal − enhances aesthetics, hygiene, avoids accidents, e.g. water in contact with electricity, slips
  - disposal of waste and dirty water correctly and safely – hygiene
  - sustainable work practices.
- Standard operating procedure for servicing toilets and bathrooms, including:
  - cleaning fixtures, appliances, walls and mirrors safely and hygienically, using the correct chemicals so that they are dust, dirt, debris and removable mark free
  - restocking and arranging customer supplies and accessories
  - emptying and cleaning waste paper bins.
- Importance of checking area and items after cleaning: ensure a safe environment, follow health and safety guidelines, fulfil service level agreement, maintain business reputation, complete work to the required standard, ensure area available for use; replenish resources.

B2 Storage of supplies

- Supplies used, e.g. cleaning equipment, customer supplies and accessories, cleaning materials and chemicals.
- Storage areas used, e.g. storage areas for equipment, customer supplies, cleaning materials, housekeeping carts.
- Importance of stock separation, e.g. keeping chemicals separate from food items and drinking water supplies..

Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Qualifications in Hospitality (Jordan) – Specification – Issue 1 – February 2024 © Pearson Education Limited 2024

- Importance of maintaining minimum stock levels, e.g. ensuring that there is enough stock to carry out the work, PAR (periodic automatic replenishment) of stock, e.g. expected minimum stock level.
- Importance of securing storage areas, e.g. pilferage, wastage.

Learning aim C: Be able to service guest rooms, using appropriate cleaning agents, equipment, resources and methods

C1 Cleaning standard operating procedures for servicing rooms

- Room cleaning, including bathrooms and toilets, e.g. cleaning from ceiling down then bed making; reasons, e.g. eliminate dust and debris on beds.
- Types of bed, e.g. double, single, cots, folding beds, zip and link and sofa beds.
- Sourcing linen and bed covering stock, including checklist, e.g. quality and quantity required, projected occupancy rates, e.g. prioritising rooms to be serviced.
- Importance of using the correct bed linen/coverings, including waterproof sheets, valances, mattress protectors, bed sheets, pillows, pillow cases, bolsters, blankets, duvets/quilts, including right size, quality.
- Standard operating procedure for making and re-sheeting beds, including removal of soiled bed linen, storage, laundry or disposal of soiled linen, checking mattress, bed base, bed head − damage, stains, clean/vacuum, turn mattress or replace as necessary, selection of correct sized linen; bed making to business standards, e.g. fit pillow cases facing away from the door; sorting linen both fresh and soiled, e.g. efficiency, folded, separating into types/sizes.
- Importance of meeting customer needs, e.g. bed, bedding, including customer satisfaction, repeat customers.
- Consequences of not adhering to bed making standards, e.g. time wastage affecting room availability, customer dissatisfaction, loss of customers.
- Standard operating procedures for dealing with bedbugs or other infestations, including recognition of bed bugs and faecal stains, reporting to supervisor/line manager, infected linen disposal, inspection of adjoining rooms, linen washing – hot water, linen drying, room closure until the infestation is eradicated.
- Communicating status of rooms to other departments, including reception, front office, concierge, e.g. room ready for occupation; room service, e.g. removal of trays; facilities, e.g. repairs/maintenance needed.

C2 Dealing with laundry

- Standard operating procedures for dealing with laundry:
  - in-house laundry service – internal.
  - outsourcing laundry − external laundry service, e.g. all or some outsourced
  - soiled linen, e.g. bedding, towels, kitchen and table linen
  - linen sorting, including colour and soil classifications, type, i.e. (care symbols), dry cleaning only; for outsourced laundry service, classifying stains for washing or hard treatment, substandard items rejections
  - detergent usage, e.g. powders, bleaching
  - washing and drying timings and temperatures, e.g. colour and type
  - sustainability considerations.

Learning aim: A (A.P1, A.P2, A.M1, A.D1)

Learning aims: B and C (B.P3, B.P4, B.M2, C.P5, C.P6, C.M3, BC.D2)

Further information for teachers and assessors

Resource requirements

For this unit, learners must be given the opportunity of a work placement in an accommodation operation, in order to demonstrate cleaning and servicing skills.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners must produce a detailed, well-developed piece of work that completely describes accommodation operations and their characteristics. Learners will examine different types of facilities, organisational practices and procedures, including the attributes and skills of an accommodation operations supervisor. Learners will evaluate the different organisational practices, procedures and their suitability to fully meet customer needs, and offer convincing reasons and examples that justify their evaluation, and give clear conclusions.

Learners will demonstrate a thorough knowledge and understanding of the department and supervisor skills and attributes used within accommodation operations and apply this in context or express their ideas.

For Merit standard, learners must produce a detailed piece of work that outlines accommodation operations, the organisation of staff and different facility types. Learners will examine different types of organisational practices and procedures, including the staff and methods used in different scenarios. Learners will compare the different organisational practices and procedures and their suitability.

Learners will demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the department and skills and attributes needed to supervise within accommodation operations and express their ideas.

For Pass standard, learners produce a basic piece of work that outlines accommodation operations, job roles, supervisor roles, procedures and documents used. Learners will describe types of organisational practices and procedures, including the features of different facilities. Learners will describe the different organisational practices, procedures and their suitability, offering basic reasons for why they are used.

Learners will demonstrate basic knowledge and understanding of the organisation of staff and methods used within hospitality accommodation operations.

Learning aim B

For Distinction standard, learners will independently and confidently organise and clean public areas and store housekeeping supplies. They will prepare the equipment, cleaning products and information needed for the process. They will work efficiently with the guests and other departments to ensure successful cleaning of public areas. All relevant documents/steps will be completed correctly. The learner will monitor the whole process and develop suitable detailed evaluation methods to allow the process to be reviewed and interpreted in detail, making recommendations for improvements.

For Merit standard, learners will independently organise and clean public areas and store housekeeping supplies. They will prepare most of the equipment, cleaning products and information needed for the process. They will work with the guests and other departments to ensure successful cleaning of the public areas. All relevant documents/steps will be completed almost correctly.

For Pass standard, learners will put together a written report on the requirements, methods and equipment for cleaning public areas. Learners will organise and clean a public area and store housekeeping supplies. They will prepare the majority of equipment, cleaning products and information needed for the process. They will work with the guests and other departments to ensure successful cleaning of the public areas. All relevant documents/steps will be completed almost correctly, with some guidance.

Learning aim C

For Distinction standard, learners will independently and confidently service rooms and store linen. They will prepare the equipment, materials and information needed for the process. They will work efficiently with the guest and other departments to ensure successful servicing of rooms. All relevant documents/steps will be completed correctly. The learner will monitor the whole process and develop suitable detailed evaluation methods to allow the process to be reviewed and interpreted in detail, making recommendations for improvements.

For Merit standard, learners will independently organise and service rooms and store linen. They will prepare most of the equipment, materials and information needed for the process. They will work with the guest and other departments to ensure successful servicing of the rooms. All relevant documents/steps will be completed almost correctly.

For Pass standard, learners will put together a written report on the requirements, methods and equipment for servicing rooms. Learners will organise and service a room and store linen. They will prepare the majority of equipment, materials and information needed for the process. They will work with the guest and other departments to ensure successful servicing of the room. All relevant documents/steps will be completed almost correctly, with some guidance.

Employer involvement

This unit would benefit from employer involvement in the form of:

- learners visiting organisations and observing how they organise different types of events
- guest speakers who are able to discuss how they meet clients' requests.

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

On completing this unit, learners will have had opportunities to develop their cleaning and servicing skills.

Unit 21: Technology and Digital Media in Hospitality

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners develop knowledge and understanding of technology, and mobile and digital media in the hospitality industry. They explore the benefits, barriers and impact they have on hospitality businesses.

Unit introduction

Technology is increasingly central to the way hospitality businesses function. It is used to communicate with customers and guests in ways that would have been impossible many years ago. It allows businesses to analyse data to identify trends in their market, expand their customer base and become more cost-effective. Hospitality businesses have an ever-increasing reliance on technology to develop their organisational goals.

In this unit, you will investigate managerial and operational technologies used in hospitality. You will learn how technology is used throughout hospitality businesses, from reception services through to restaurants. You will explore digital media and mobile technologies, and how they are used across organisations. You will investigate a particular organisation, finding out about the technology it uses, how this has influenced its business operations and how it is used to meet business needs. You will also plan to introduce new or emerging technology in a business.

This unit will support your progress to a higher level of study or employment in a range of job roles across the hospitality industry, including supervisory positions, where a broad range of communication, interpersonal, practical and technological skills and knowledge will be required.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Explore the use of technology in hospitality businesses

B Explore the use of digital media and mobile technologies in hospitality businesses

C Develop a plan to incorporate technology that will aid productivity and enhance the customer experience.

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners will carry out in-depth research and collect detailed evidence to produce a comprehensive report regarding the use of managerial and operational technology in two hospitality businesses. Learners will describe, in detail, the use of managerial and operational technology in hospitality. Learners will evaluate the businesses and how the technology impacts them, explaining in depth the importance of the technology to the business. Learners will produce a fully supported evaluation drawing valid conclusions on how technology enhances business efficiency to meet business objectives. They will use appropriate terminology consistently and accurately throughout.

For Merit standard, learners will carry out detailed research and collect evidence to produce a clear, balanced report regarding the use of managerial and operational technology in two hospitality businesses. Learners will describe the use of managerial and operational technology in hospitality. Learners will explore the businesses and how the technology impacts them, explaining in depth the importance of the technology to the business. They will use appropriate terminology accurately.

For Pass standard, learners will carry out basic research and collect evidence to produce a report regarding the use of managerial and operational technology in two hospitality businesses. Learners will describe in basic detail the use of managerial and operational technology in hospitality. Learners will explore the businesses and how the technology impacts them. They will use appropriate terminology. The evidence will be realistic but may be superficial in parts or may be supported by limited use of examples or reasons.

Learning aim B

For Distinction standard, learners will carry out in-depth research and collect detailed evidence to produce a comprehensive report regarding digital media and mobile technology, including apps, in two contrasting hospitality businesses. Learners will investigate in depth the use of digital media and mobile technology, including apps, in hospitality. Learners will analyse one business and how the technology impacts the customer experience, looking at both digital media and mobile technologies, using detailed evidence. Learners will produce a fully supported evaluation, drawing valid conclusions on the benefits of and the barriers to using digital media and mobile technologies. They will use appropriate terminology consistently and accurately throughout.

For Merit standard, learners will carry out comprehensive research and collect evidence to produce a clear report regarding digital media and mobile technology, including apps, in two contrasting hospitality businesses. Learners will investigate, in detail, the use of digital media and mobile technology, including apps, in hospitality. Learners will investigate the use of digital media and mobile technology, including apps, in hospitality. They will use appropriate terminology. The evidence will be realistic but may be superficial in parts or may be supported by limited use of examples.

Learning aim C

For Distinction standard, learners will produce a comprehensive proposal that completely describes the business and the objectives to be achieved with the new technologies, with a suitable rationale for the technology identified. Learners will include complete information on the implementation of the proposal, detailing appropriate monitoring activities to ensure the proposal stays on track. They will also include suitable and sufficient criteria to enable the effective evaluation of the proposal and provide valid reasons to justify their choice. Reasons must draw suitably on the details of the objectives stated in the proposal. Learners will justify their selections.

For Merit standard, learners will produce a detailed proposal that completely describes the business and the objectives to be achieved with the new technologies. They will propose technology that is suitable for the business, with detailed and complete information. Learners will include complete information on the implementation of the proposal. They will also include some criteria for evaluating the proposal, although these may not all be complete.

For Pass standard, learners will, produce a simple proposal that adequately describes the business, the objectives to be achieved and the new technology. They will propose a technology that is suitable for the business, with adequate information. Learners will include some information on the implementation and evaluation of the proposal, but this may be incomplete or limited.

Opportunities to develop transferable employability skills

In completing this unit, learners will have the opportunity to develop their skills in research and analysis.

Unit 23: Personal Selling and Promotional Skills for Hospitality

Level: 3
Unit type: Internal
Guided learning hours: 60

Unit in brief

Learners gain knowledge of how personal selling and promotional activities benefit hospitality businesses, and develop skills in the promotion and sales of products and services.

Unit introduction

Personal selling is the marketing function that deals with the customer on a direct or face-to-face basis. Personal selling attempts to inform and educate prospective customers and to persuade them to purchase products and services. Promotional activities are essential within marketing to create awareness and stimulate interest in the product or service offered.

In this unit, you will explore the various types of personal selling and promotional activities to be found within the hospitality industry. You will investigate the types of customer relevant to hospitality businesses, including individuals and business customers, as well as customer profiles. You will also look at factors that influence the decision to purchase and the decision-making process itself. You will design promotional activities for use in hospitality businesses that will be linked to business aims and take into account the costs and resources needed and the benefits to the customer and the business. You will put into practice your personal selling skills, showing your ability to create awareness, identify the product or service features and benefits, handle objections, and close the sale. You will be expected to show understanding of the benefits of a legal and ethical approach.

This unit will give you the foundation knowledge and understanding for developing selling skills, and enable you to progress to self-employment or employment in the hospitality industry, training or higher education.

Learning aims

In this unit you will:

A Explore promotional activities in hospitality businesses

B Create a promotional mix for use in a hospitality business

C Demonstrate personal selling skills for a hospitality product or service.

Resource requirements

There are no special resources needed for this unit.

Essential information for assessment decisions

Learners will provide relevant evidence from two contrasting hospitality businesses of the differing approaches to promotional activities to support their work.

The hospitality businesses selected by the learner in learning aim A should be contrasting in terms of their function, for example fast food business and luxury hotel. It is recommended that the learner's own centre is not used for this unit.

Learning aim A

For Distinction standard, learners will use relevant evidence from two contrasting hospitality businesses to evaluate the success of the promotional activities of these two businesses. Evidence of independent research will be included.

For Merit standard, learners will give a clear comparison of the promotional activities used by two contrasting hospitality businesses. They will identify the main factors relating to the promotional activities of both businesses and extended this to explain the similarities, differences, advantages and disadvantages. Evidence of independent research will be included.

For Pass standard, learners will use independent research to explain how two contrasting hospitality businesses promote their businesses. They will include an explanation of the benefits of these promotional activities for the two businesses.

Learning aim B

For Distinction standard, learners will develop a justified promotional mix for a chosen hospitality business, explaining how it will be affected by both legal and ethical issues. They will evaluate the likely extent to which the proposed promotional mix will meet the needs of its customers.

For Merit standard, learners will develop a clear promotional mix for a chosen hospitality business, explaining how it will be affected by both legal and ethical issues and justifying their decisions.

For Pass standard, learners will develop a promotional mix for a chosen hospitality business and explain how legal and ethical issues may affect this promotional mix.

Learning aim C

Role play may be used to demonstrate personal selling skills, but role play must not be scripted and answers pre-prepared and read, as this would not allow the learner to demonstrate their skills or show them effectively responding to customers.

Records of activity must be supported with a personal statement from the learner to show how they demonstrated personal selling skills.

For Distinction standard, learners will demonstrate effective personal selling skills and customer knowledge and evaluate the effectiveness of the sale made, reflecting on personal skills and recommending improvements to their skills. This will be supported by an explanation of why it is important to know the customer and the buying process when making personal sales.

For Merit standard, learners will demonstrate effective personal selling skills and customer knowledge when making a personal sale. This will be supported by an explanation of why it is important to know the customer and the buying process when making personal sales.

For Pass standard, learners will demonstrate appropriate personal selling skills when making a personal sale. This will be supported by an explanation of why it is important to know the customer and the buying process when making personal sales.

4 Planning your programme

How do I choose the right BTEC International Level 3 qualification for my learners?

BTEC International Level 3 qualifications come in a range of sizes, each with a specific purpose. You will need to recruit learners very carefully to ensure that they start on the right size of qualification to fit into their study programme and that they take the right pathways or optional units to allow them to progress to the next stage.

Some learners may want to take a number of complementary qualifications or keep their progression options open. These learners may be suited to taking a BTEC International Level 3 Certificate or Subsidiary Diploma. Learners who then decide to continue with a fuller vocational programme can transfer to a BTEC International Level 3 Diploma.

Is there a learner entry requirement?

As a centre, it is your responsibility to ensure that the learners you recruit have a reasonable expectation of success on the programme. There are no formal entry requirements but we expect learners to have qualifications at or equivalent to Level 2.

Learners are most likely to succeed if they have:

- five International GCSEs at good grades and/or
- BTEC qualification(s) at Level 2
- other appropriate qualifications or achievement at grade 11 or age 16 in core subjects.

Learners may demonstrate the ability to succeed in various ways. For example, they may have relevant work experience or specific aptitude shown through diagnostic tests or non-educational experience.

If learners are studying in English we recommend that they have attained at least Level B2 in the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages or Pearson Global Scale of English 51. Please see resources available from Pearson at www.pearson.com/english

What is involved in becoming an approved centre?

All centres must be approved before they can offer these qualifications – so that they are ready to assess learners and so that we can provide the support that is needed. Further information is given in Section 8 Quality assurance.

What level of sector knowledge is needed to teach these qualifications?

We do not set any requirements for teachers but recommend that centres assess the overall skills and knowledge of the teaching team to ensure that they are relevant and up to date. This will give learners a rich programme to prepare them for employment in the sector.

What resources are required to deliver these qualifications?

As part of your centre approval, you will need to show that the necessary material resources and work spaces are available to deliver BTEC International Level 3 qualifications. For some units, specific resources are required.

How can Pearson Progress help with planning for these qualifications?

Pearson Progress is a digital support system that supports the delivery, assessment and quality assurance of BTECs in centres. It supports teachers with activities such as course creation, creating and verifying assignments and creating assessment plans and recording assessment decisions.

For further information, see Section 10 Resources and support.

Which modes of delivery can be used for these qualifications?

You are free to deliver BTEC International Level 3 qualifications using any form of delivery that meets the needs of your learners. We recommend making use of a wide variety of modes, including direct instruction in classrooms or work environments, investigative and practical work, group and peer work, private study and e-learning.

What are the recommendations for employer involvement?

BTEC International Level 3 qualifications are vocational qualifications and, as an approved centre, you are encouraged to work with employers on design, delivery and assessment to ensure that it is engaging and relevant, and that it equips learners for progression. There are suggestions in many of the units about how employers could become involved in delivery and/or assessment but these are not intended to be exhaustive and there will be other possibilities at local level.

What support is available?

We provide a wealth of support materials, including curriculum plans, delivery guides, sample Pearson Set Assignments and Authorised Assignment Briefs.

You will be allocated a Standards Verifier early on in the planning stage to support you with planning your assessments. There will be extensive training programmes as well as support from our Subject Advisor team.

For further details see Section 10 Resources and support.

How will my learners become more employable through these qualifications?

BTEC International Level 3 qualifications are mapped to relevant occupational standards, please see Appendix 1: Links to industry standards.

Employability skills, such as teamworking and entrepreneurialism, and practical, hands-on skills have been built into the design of the learning aims and content. This gives you the opportunity to use relevant contexts, scenarios and materials to enable learners to develop a portfolio of evidence that demonstrates the breadth of their skills and knowledge in a way that equips them for employment.

5 Assessment structure

Introduction

BTEC International Level 3 qualifications are assessed using a combination of internal assessments, which are set and marked by teachers, and Pearson Set Assignments, which are set by Pearson and marked by teachers.

- Mandatory units have a combination of internal and Pearson Set Assignments.
- All optional units are internally assessed.

In developing an overall plan for delivery and assessment for the programme, you will need to consider the order in which you deliver units, whether delivery is over short- or long periods and when assessment can take place. You must plan the assignments so that learners can demonstrate learning from across their programme.

We have addressed the need to ensure that the time allocated to final assessment of units is reasonable so that there is sufficient time for teaching and learning, formative assessment and development of transferable skills.

In administering an internal assignment or a Pearson Set Assignment, the centre needs to be aware of the specific procedures and policies that apply, for example to registration, entries and results. An overview, with signposting to relevant documents, is given in Section 7 Administrative arrangements.

Internal assessment

Our approach to internal assessment for these qualifications will be broadly familiar to experienced centres. It offers flexibility in how and when you assess learners, provided that you meet assessment and quality assurance requirements. You will need to take account of the requirements of the unit format, which we explain in Section 3 Units, and the requirements for delivering assessment given in Section 6 Internal assessment.

Pearson Set Assignment units

A summary of the set assignments for this qualification is given in Section 2 Structure. You should check this information carefully, together with the details of the unit being assessed, so that you can timetable learning and assessment periods appropriately.

Learners must take the authorised Pearson Set Assignment for the set assignment unit. Teachers are not permitted to create their own assessments for set assignment units. Some assignments may need to be taken in controlled conditions. These are described in each unit.

Please see Section 6 for resubmission and retaking regulations.

6 Internal assessment

This section gives an overview of the key features of internal assessment and how you, as an approved centre, can offer it effectively. The full requirements and operational information are given in the BTEC International Quality Assurance Handbook. All members of the assessment team need to refer to this document.

For BTEC International Level 3 qualifications, it is important that you can meet the expectations of stakeholders and the needs of learners by providing a programme that is practical and applied. Centres can tailor programmes to meet local needs and use links with local employers and the wider vocational sector.

When internal assessment is operated effectively, it is challenging, engaging, practical and up to date. It must also be fair to all learners and meet international standards.

All units in these qualifications are internally assessed but Pearson sets the assignments for some of the units.

Principles of internal assessment (applies to all units)

Assessment through assignments

For all units, the format of assessment is an assignment taken after the content of the unit, or part of the unit if several assignments are used, has been delivered. An assignment may take a variety of forms, including practical and written types. An assignment is a distinct activity, completed independently by learners, that is separate from teaching, practice, exploration and other activities that learners complete with direction from teachers.

An assignment is issued to learners as an assignment brief with a defined start date, a completion date and clear requirements for the evidence that they need to provide. There may be specific observed practical components during the assignment period. Assignments can be divided into tasks and may require several forms of evidence. A valid assignment will enable a clear and formal assessment outcome, based on the assessment criteria. For most units, teachers will set the assignments. For Pearson Set Assignment units, Pearson will set the assignment.

Assessment decisions through applying unit-based criteria

Assessment decisions for BTEC International Level 3 qualifications are based on the specific criteria given in each unit and set at each grade level. To ensure that standards are consistent in the qualification and across the suite as a whole, the criteria for each unit have been defined according to a framework. The way in which individual units are written provides a balance of assessment of understanding, practical skills and vocational attributes appropriate to the purpose of qualifications.

The assessment criteria for a unit are hierarchical and holistic. For example, if an M criterion requires the learner to show 'analysis' and the related P criterion requires the learner to 'explain', then to satisfy the M criterion, a learner will need to cover both 'explain' and 'analyse'. The unit assessment grid shows the relationships between the criteria so that assessors can apply all the criteria to the learner's evidence at the same time. In Appendix 4: Glossary of terms used, we have set out a definition of terms that assessors need to understand.

Assessors must show how they have reached their decisions using the criteria in the assessment records. When a learner has completed all the assessment for a unit, then the assessment team will give a grade for the unit. This is given according to the highest level for which the learner is judged to have met all the criteria. Therefore:

- to achieve a Distinction, a learner must have satisfied all the Distinction criteria (and therefore the Pass and Merit criteria); these define outstanding performance across the unit as a whole
- to achieve a Merit, a learner must have satisfied all the Merit criteria (and therefore the Pass criteria) through high performance in each learning aim
- to achieve a Pass, a learner must have satisfied all the Pass criteria for the learning aims, showing coverage of the unit content and therefore attainment at Level 3 of the qualification.

The award of a Pass is a defined level of performance and cannot be given solely on the basis of a learner completing assignments. Learners who do not satisfy the Pass criteria should be reported as Unclassified.

The assessment team

It is important that there is an effective team for internal assessment. There are three key roles involved in implementing assessment processes in your centre, each with different interrelated responsibilities; the roles are listed below. There is detailed information in the BTEC International Quality Assurance Handbook.

- The Lead Internal Verifier (the Lead IV) has overall responsibility for the programme, its assessment and internal verification, record keeping and liaison with the Standards Verifier, ensuring our requirements are met. The Lead IV acts as an assessor, standardises and supports the rest of the assessment team, making sure that they have the information they need about our assessment requirements and organises training, making use of our standardisation, guidance and support materials.
- Internal Verifiers (IVs) oversee all assessment activities in consultation with the Lead IV. They check that assignments and assessment decisions are valid and that they meet our requirements. IVs will be standardised by working with the Lead IV. Normally, IVs are also assessors but they do not verify their own assessments.
- Assessors set or use assignments to assess learners. Before making any assessment decisions, assessors participate in standardisation activities led by the Lead IV. They work with the Lead IV and IVs to ensure that the assessment is planned and carried out in line with our requirements.

Effective organisation

Internal assessment needs to be well organised so that the progress of learners can be tracked and so that we can monitor that assessment is being carried out. We support you through, for example, providing training materials and sample documentation. Our online Pearson Progress service can help support you in planning and record keeping. Further information on using Pearson Progress can be found in Section 10 Resources and support, and on our website.

It is particularly important that you manage the overall assignment programme and deadlines to make sure that learners are able to complete assignments on time.

Learner preparation

To ensure that you provide effective assessment for your learners, you need to make sure that they understand their responsibilities for assessment and the centre's arrangements.

From induction onwards, you will want to ensure that learners are motivated to work consistently and independently to achieve the requirements of the qualifications. Learners need to understand how assignments are used, the importance of meeting assignment deadlines and that all the work submitted for assessment must be their own.

You will need to give learners a guide that explains how assignments are used for assessment, how assignments relate to the teaching programme and how learners should use and reference source materials, including what would constitute plagiarism. The guide should also set out your approach to operating assessment, such as how learners must submit work and request extensions.

Making valid assessment decisions

Authenticity of learner work

Once an assessment has begun, learners must not be given feedback on progress towards fulfilling the targeted criteria.

An assessor must assess only learner work that is authentic, i.e. learners' own independent work. Learners must authenticate the evidence that they provide for assessment through signing a declaration stating that it is their own work.

Assessors must ensure that evidence is authentic to a learner through setting valid assignments and supervising them during the assessment period. Assessors must take care not to provide direct input, instructions or specific feedback that may compromise authenticity.

Assessors must complete a declaration that:

- to the best of their knowledge the evidence submitted for this assignment is the learner's own
- the learner has clearly referenced any sources used in the work
- they understand that false declaration is a form of malpractice.

Centres can use Pearson templates or their own templates to document authentication.

During assessment, an assessor may suspect that some or all of the evidence from a learner is not authentic. The assessor must then take appropriate action using the centre's policies for malpractice. Further information is given in Section 7 Administrative arrangements.

Making assessment decisions using criteria

Assessors make judgements using the criteria. The evidence from a learner can be judged using all the relevant criteria at the same time. The assessor needs to make a judgement against each criterion that evidence is present and sufficiently comprehensive. For example, the inclusion of a concluding section may be insufficient to satisfy a criterion requiring 'evaluation'.

Assessors should use the following information and support in reaching assessment decisions:

- the Essential information for assessment decisions section in each unit gives examples and definitions related to terms used in the criteria
- the explanation of key terms in Appendix 4: Glossary of terms used
- examples of assessed work provided by Pearson
- your Lead IV and assessment team's collective experience.

Pass and Merit criteria relate to individual learning aims. The Distinction criteria as a whole relate to outstanding evidence across the unit. Therefore, criteria may relate to more than one learning aim (for example A.D1) or to several learning aims (for example DE.D3). Distinction criteria make sure that learners have shown that they can perform consistently at an outstanding level across the unit and/or that they are able to draw learning together across learning aims.

Issuing assessment decisions and feedback

Once the assessment team has completed the assessment process for an assignment, the outcome is a formal assessment decision. This is recorded formally and reported to learners.

The information given to the learner:

- must show the formal decision and how it has been reached, indicating how or where criteria have been met
- may show why attainment against criteria has not been demonstrated
- must not provide feedback on how to improve evidence
- must be validated by an IV before it is given to the learner.

Planning and record keeping

For internal processes to be effective, an assessment team needs to be well organised and keep effective records. The centre will work closely with us so that we can ensure that standards are being satisfied and achieved. This process gives stakeholders confidence in the assessment approach.

The programme must have an assessment plan validated by the Lead IV, produced as a spreadsheet. When producing a plan, the assessment team needs to consider:

- the time required for training and standardisation of the assessment team
- the time available to undertake teaching and carry out assessment, taking account of when learners may complete assessments and when quality assurance will take place
- the completion dates for different assignments and the name of each Assessor
- who is acting as the Internal Verifier for each assignment and the date by which the assignment needs to be internally verified

- setting an approach to sampling assessor decisions through internal verification that covers all assignments, assessors and a range of assessment decisions
- how to manage the assessment and verification of learners' work so that they can be given formal decisions promptly
- how resubmission opportunities can be scheduled.

The Lead IV will also maintain records of assessment undertaken. The key records are:

- internal verification of assignment briefs
- learner authentication declarations
- assessor decisions on assignments, with feedback given to learners
- internal verification of assessment decisions
- assessment tracking for the unit.

There are examples of records and further information in the BTEC International Quality Assurance Handbook.

Setting effective assignments (applies to all units without Pearson Set Assignments)

Setting the number and structure of assignments

This section does not apply to Pearson Set Assignment units. In setting your assignments, you need to work with the structure of assignments shown in the Essential information for assignments section of a unit. This shows the structure of the learning aims and criteria that you must follow and the recommended number of assignments that you should use. For these units we provide sample Authorised Assignment Briefs and we give you suggestions on how to create suitable assignments. You can find these materials on our website. In designing your own assignment briefs, you should bear in mind the following points.

- The number of assignments for a unit must not exceed the number shown in Essential information for assignments. However, you may choose to combine assignments, for example, to create a single assignment for the whole unit.
- You may also choose to combine all or parts of different units into single assignments, provided that all units and all their associated learning aims are fully addressed in the programme overall. If you choose to take this approach, you need to make sure that learners are fully prepared so that they can provide all the required evidence for assessment and that you are able to track achievement in the records.
- A learning aim must always be assessed as a whole and must not be split into two or more assignments.
- The assignment must be targeted to the learning aims but the learning aims and their associated criteria are not tasks in themselves. Criteria are expressed in terms of the outcome shown in the evidence.
- You do not have to follow the order of the learning aims of a unit in setting assignments but later learning aims often require learners to apply the content of earlier learning aims and they may require learners to draw their learning together.

- Assignments must be structured to allow learners to demonstrate the full range of achievement at all grade levels. Learners need to be treated fairly by being given the opportunity to achieve a higher grade if they have the ability.
- As assignments provide a final assessment, they will draw on the specified range of teaching content for the learning aims. The specified content is compulsory. The evidence for assessment need not cover every aspect of the teaching content as learners will normally be given particular examples, case studies or contexts in their assignments. For example, if a learner is carrying out one practical performance, or an investigation of one organisation, then they will address all the relevant range of content that applies in that instance.

Providing an assignment brief

A good assignment brief is one that, through providing challenging and realistic tasks, motivates learners to provide appropriate evidence of what they have learned.

An assignment brief should have:

- a vocational scenario, this could be a simple situation or a full, detailed set of vocational requirements that motivates the learner to apply their learning through the assignment
- clear instructions to the learner about what they are required to do, normally set out through a series of tasks
- an audience or purpose for which the evidence is being provided
- an explanation of how the assignment relates to the unit(s) being assessed.

Forms of evidence

BTECs have always allowed for a variety of forms of evidence to be used – provided that they are suited to the type of learning aim being assessed. For many units, the practical demonstration of skills is necessary and, for others, learners will need to carry out their own research and analysis. The units give you information on what would be suitable forms of evidence to give learners the opportunity to apply a range of employability or transferable skills. Centres may choose to use different suitable forms of evidence to those proposed. Overall, learners should be assessed using varied forms of evidence.

Full definitions of types of assessment are given in Appendix 4: Glossary of terms used. These are some of the main types of assessment:

- written reports
- projects
- time-constrained practical assessments with observation records and supporting evidence
- recordings of performance
- sketchbooks, working logbooks, reflective journals
- presentations with assessor questioning.

The form(s) of evidence selected must:

- allow the learner to provide all the evidence required for the learning aim(s) and the associated assessment criteria at all grade levels
- allow the learner to produce evidence that is their own independent work
- allow a verifier to independently reassess the learner to check the assessor's decisions.

For example, when you are using performance evidence, you need to think about how supporting evidence can be captured through recordings, photographs or task sheets.

Centres need to take particular care that learners are enabled to produce independent work. For example, if learners are asked to use real examples, then best practice would be to encourage them to use their own or to give the group a number of examples that can be used in varied combinations.

Late completion, resubmission and retakes (applies to all units including Pearson Set Assignment units)

Dealing with late completion of assignments for internally-assessed units

Learners must have a clear understanding of the centre policy on completing assignments by the deadlines that you give them. Learners may be given authorised extensions for legitimate reasons, such as illness at the time of submission, in line with your centre policies.

For assessment to be fair, it is important that learners are all assessed in the same way and that some learners are not advantaged by having additional time or the opportunity to learn from others. Therefore, learners who do not complete assignments by your planned deadline or by the authorised extension deadline may not have the opportunity to subsequently resubmit.

If you accept a late completion by a learner, then the assignment should be assessed normally when it is submitted, using the relevant assessment criteria.

Resubmission of improved evidence for internally-assessed units

An assignment provides the final assessment for the relevant learning aims and is normally a final assessment decision, except where the Lead IV approves one opportunity to resubmit improved evidence based on the completed assignment brief.

The Lead IV has the responsibility to make sure that resubmission is operated fairly. This means:

- checking that a learner can be reasonably expected to perform better through a second submission, for example, that the learner has not performed as expected
- making sure that giving a further opportunity can be done in such a way that it does not give an unfair advantage over other learners, for example, through the opportunity to take account of feedback given to other learners
- checking that the assessor considers that the learner will be able to provide improved evidence without further guidance and that the original evidence submitted has been authenticated by both the learner and assessor and remains valid.

Once an assessment decision has been given to the learner, the resubmission opportunity must have a deadline within 15 working days after the timely issue of assessment feedback to learners, which is within term time in the same academic year.

A resubmission opportunity must not be provided where learners:

- have not completed the assignment by the deadline without the centre's agreement
- have submitted work that is not authentic.

We recognise that there are circumstances where the resubmission period may fall outside of the 15-day limit owing to a lack of resources being available, for example, where learners may need to access a performance space or have access to specialist equipment. Where it is practical to do so, for example, evaluations, presentations, extended writing, resubmission must remain within the normal 15-day period.

Retake of internal assessment

A learner who has not achieved the level of performance required to pass the relevant learning aims after resubmission of an assignment may be offered a single retake opportunity using a new assignment. The retake may be achieved at a Pass only.

The Lead Internal Verifier must authorise a retake of an assignment only in exceptional circumstances where they believe it is necessary, appropriate and fair to do so. The retake is not timebound and the assignment can be attempted by the learner on a date agreed between the Lead IV and assessor within the same academic year.

For further information on offering a retake opportunity, you should refer to the BTEC Centre Guide to Internal Assessment.

7 Administrative arrangements

Introduction

This section focuses on the administrative requirements for delivering a BTEC qualification. It is of particular value to Quality Nominees, Lead IVs, Programme Leaders and Examinations Officers.

Learner registration and entry

Shortly after learners start the programme of learning, you need to make sure that they are registered for the qualification and that appropriate arrangements are made for internal assessment. You need to refer to the relevant section for BTEC International in the Information Manual for information on making registrations for the qualification.

Learners can be formally assessed only for a qualification on which they are registered. If learners' intended qualifications change, for example, if a learner decides to choose a different pathway specialism, then the centre must transfer the learner appropriately.

Access to assessment

Assessments need to be administered carefully to ensure that all learners are treated fairly, and that results and certification are issued on time to allow learners to progress to their chosen progression opportunities.

Our equality policy requires that all learners should have equal opportunity to access our qualifications and assessments, and that our qualifications are awarded in a way that is fair to every learner. We are committed to making sure that:

- learners with a protected characteristic are not, when they are undertaking one of our qualifications, disadvantaged in comparison to learners who do not share that characteristic
- all learners achieve the recognition they deserve for undertaking a qualification and that this achievement can be compared fairly to the achievement of their peers.

Further information on access arrangements can be found in the document Supplementary guidance for reasonable adjustments and special consideration.

Administrative arrangements for assessment

Records

You are required to retain records of assessment for each learner. Records should include assessments taken, decisions reached and any adjustments or appeals. Further information can be found in the relevant section for BTEC International in the Information Manual. We may ask to audit your records, so they must be retained as specified.

Reasonable adjustments to assessment

To ensure that learners have fair access to demonstrate the requirements of the assessments, a reasonable adjustment is one that is made before a learner takes an assessment. You are able to make adjustments to internal assessments to take account of the needs of individual learners. In most cases, this can be achieved through a defined time extension or by adjusting the format of evidence. We can advise you if you are uncertain as to whether an adjustment is fair and reasonable. You need to plan for time to make adjustments if necessary.

Further details on how to make adjustments for learners with protected characteristics are given on our website, in the document Supplementary guidance for reasonable adjustments and special consideration.

Special consideration

Special consideration is given after an assessment has taken place for learners who have been affected by adverse circumstances, such as illness. You must operate special consideration in line with our policy (see above). You can give special consideration related to the period of time given for evidence to be provided or for the format of the assessment if it is equally valid. You may not substitute alternative forms of evidence to that required in a unit or omit the application of any assessment criteria to judge attainment. Pearson can consider applications for special consideration if they are in line with the policy.

Appeals against assessment

Your centre must have a policy for dealing with appeals from learners. These appeals may relate to assessment decisions being incorrect or assessment not being conducted fairly. The first step in such a policy could be a consideration of the evidence by a Lead IV or other member of the programme team. The assessment plan should allow time for potential appeals after assessment decisions have been given to learners. If there is an appeal by a learner, you must document the appeal and its resolution. Learners have a final right of appeal to Pearson but only if the procedures that you have put in place have not been followed. Further details are given in the document Internal assessment in vocational qualifications: reviews and appeals policy.

Conducting set assignments

Centres must make arrangements for the secure delivery of Pearson Set Assignments.

At least one Pearson Set Assignment will be available each year for each unit with an additional one provided for resit. Centres must not select an assignment that learners have attempted already.

Each set assignment has a defined degree of control under which it must take place. We define degrees of control as follows.

Medium control

This is completion of assessment, usually over a longer period of time, which may include a period of controlled conditions. The controlled conditions may allow learners to access resources, prepared notes or the internet to help them complete the assignment.

Low control

These are activities completed without direct supervision. They may include research, preparation of materials and practice.

Each set assignment unit will contain instructions in the Essential information for assignments section on how to conduct the assessment of that unit.

Some set assignments will need to be taken with limited controls. Limited controls are described in each unit and may include the following conditions:

- Time: each assignment has a recommended time period. This is for advice only and can be adjusted depending on the needs of learners.
- Supervision: you should be confident of the authenticity of learner's work. This may mean that learners be supervised.
- Resources: all learners should have access to the same types of resources to complete the assignment.
- Research: learners should be given the opportunity to carry out research outside of the learning context if required for the assignment.

Schools and colleges must be able to confirm that learner evidence is authentic.

Dealing with malpractice in assessment

Malpractice means acts that undermine the integrity and validity of assessment, the certification of qualifications, and/or that may damage the authority of those responsible for delivering the assessment and certification.

Pearson does not tolerate actions (or attempted actions) of malpractice by learners, centre staff or centres in connection with Pearson qualifications. Pearson may impose penalties and/or sanctions on learners, centre staff or centres where incidents (or attempted incidents) of malpractice have been proven.

Malpractice may arise or be suspected in relation to any unit or type of assessment within the qualification. For further details regarding malpractice and advice on preventing malpractice by learners, please see Pearson's Centre guidance: Dealing with malpractice and maladministration available on our website.

Centres are required to take steps to prevent malpractice and to investigate instances of suspected malpractice. Learners must be given information that explains what malpractice is for internal assessment and how suspected incidents will be dealt with by the centre. The Centre Guidance: Dealing with malpractice and maladministration document gives comprehensive information on the actions we expect you to take.

Pearson may conduct investigations if we believe that a centre is failing to conduct internal assessment according to our policies. The above document gives further information and examples, and details the penalties and sanctions that may be imposed.

In the interests of learners and centre staff, centres need to respond effectively and openly to all requests relating to an investigation into an incident of suspected malpractice.

Learner malpractice

Learner malpractice refers to any act by a learner that compromises or which seeks to compromise the process of assessment or which undermines the integrity of the qualifications or the validity of results/certificates.

Learner malpractice in examinations must be reported to Pearson using a JCQ Form M1 (available at www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/malpractice). The form should be emailed to candidatemalpractice@pearson.com. Please provide as much information and supporting documentation as possible. Note that the final decision regarding appropriate sanctions lies with Pearson.

Failure to report malpractice constitutes staff or centre malpractice.

Staff/centre malpractice

Staff and centre malpractice includes both deliberate malpractice and maladministration of our qualifications. As with learner malpractice, staff and centre malpractice is any act that compromises or which seeks to compromise the process of assessment, or which undermines the integrity of the qualifications or the validity of results/certificates.

All cases of suspected staff malpractice and maladministration must be reported immediately, before any investigation is undertaken by the centre, to Pearson on a JCQ Form M2 (available at www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/malpractice).

The form, supporting documentation and as much information as possible should be emailed to pqsmalpractice@pearson.com. Note that the final decision regarding appropriate sanctions lies with Pearson.

Failure to report malpractice itself constitutes malpractice.

More detailed guidance on malpractice can be found in the latest version of the document JCQ Suspected Malpractice Policies and Procedures, available at www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/malpractice.

Sanctions and appeals

Where malpractice is proven, we may impose sanctions or penalties.

Where learner malpractice is evidenced, penalties may be imposed such as:

- disqualification from the qualification
- being barred from registration for Pearson qualifications for a period of time.

If we are concerned about your centre's quality procedures, we may impose sanctions such as:

- working with you to create an improvement action plan
- requiring staff members to receive further training
- placing temporary blocks on your certificates
- placing temporary blocks on registration of learners
- debarring staff members or the centre from delivering Pearson qualifications
- suspending or withdrawing centre approval status.

The centre will be notified if any of these apply.

Pearson has established procedures for centres that are considering appeals against penalties and sanctions arising from malpractice. Appeals against a decision made by Pearson will normally be accepted only from Heads of Centres (on behalf of learners and/or members of staff) and from individual members (in respect of a decision taken against them personally). Further information on appeals can be found in our document Internal assessment in vocational qualifications: reviews and appeals policy, which is on our website. In the initial stage of any aspect of malpractice, please notify the Investigations Team by email via pqsmalpractice@pearson.com, who will inform you of the next steps.

Certification and results

Once a learner has completed all the required components for a qualification, the centre can claim certification for the learner, provided that quality assurance has been successfully completed. For the relevant procedures, please refer to the BTEC International section of our Information Manual. You can use the information provided on qualification grading to check overall qualification grades.

Changes to qualification requests

Where a learner who has taken a qualification wants to resit a unit to improve their qualification grade, you firstly need to decline their overall qualification grade. You may decline the grade before the certificate is issued.

Additional documents to support centre administration

As an approved centre, you must ensure that all staff delivering, assessing and administering the qualifications have access to the following documentation. These documents are reviewed annually and are reissued if updates are required.

- BTEC International Quality Assurance Handbook: this sets out how we will carry out quality assurance of standards and how you need to work with us to achieve successful outcomes.
- Information Manual: this gives procedures for registering learners for qualifications, transferring registrations and claiming certificates.
- Regulatory policies: our regulatory policies are integral to our approach and explain how we meet internal and regulatory requirements. We review the regulated policies annually to ensure that they remain fit for purpose. Policies related to this qualification include:
    - adjustments for candidates with disabilities and learning difficulties, access arrangements and reasonable adjustments for learners of determination for general and vocational qualifications
    - age of learners
    - centre guidance for dealing with malpractice
    - recognition of prior learning and process.

This list is not exhaustive and a full list of our regulatory policies can be found on our website.

8 Quality assurance

Centre and qualification approval

As part of the approval process, your centre must make sure that the resource requirements listed below are in place before offering the qualification.

- Centres must have appropriate physical resources (for example equipment, IT, learning materials, teaching rooms) to support the delivery and assessment of the qualification.
- Staff involved in the assessment process must have relevant expertise and/or occupational experience.
- There must be systems in place to ensure continuing professional development for staff delivering the qualification.
- Centres must have in place appropriate health and safety policies relating to the use of equipment by learners.
- Centres must deliver the qualification in accordance with current equality and diversity legislation and/or regulations.
- Centres should refer to the Further information for teachers and assessors section in individual units to check for any specific resources required.

Continuing quality assurance and standards verification

On an annual basis, we produce the BTEC International Quality Assurance Handbook. It contains detailed guidance on the quality processes required to underpin robust assessment and internal verification.

The key principles of quality assurance are that:

- a centre delivering BTEC programmes must be an approved centre, and must have approval for the programmes or groups of programmes that it is delivering
- the centre agrees, as part of gaining approval, to abide by specific terms and conditions around the effective delivery and quality assurance of assessment; the centre must abide by these conditions throughout the period of delivery
- Pearson makes available to approved centres resources and processes that exemplify assessment and appropriate standards. Approved centres must use these to ensure that all staff delivering BTEC qualifications keep up to date with the guidance on assessment
- an approved centre must follow agreed protocols for standardisation of assessors and verifiers, for the planning, monitoring and recording of assessment processes, and for dealing with special circumstances, appeals and malpractice.

The approach of quality-assured assessment is through a partnership between an approved centre and Pearson. We will make sure that each centre follows best practice and employs appropriate technology to support quality-assurance processes, where practicable. We work to support centres and seek to make sure that our quality-assurance processes do not place undue bureaucratic processes on centres. We monitor and support centres in the effective operation of assessment and quality assurance.

The methods we use to do this for BTEC Level 3 include:

- making sure that all centres complete appropriate declarations at the time of approval
- undertaking approval visits to centres
- making sure that centres have effective teams of assessors and verifiers who are trained to undertake assessment
- assessment sampling and verification, through requested samples of assessments, completed assessed learner work and associated documentation
- an overarching review and assessment of a centre's strategy for delivering and quality assuring its BTEC programmes.

Centres that do not fully address and maintain rigorous approaches to delivering, assessing and quality assurance cannot seek certification for individual programmes or for all BTEC Level 3 programmes. An approved centre must make certification claims only when authorised by us and strictly in accordance with requirements for reporting.

Centres that do not comply with remedial action plans may have their approval to deliver qualifications removed.

9 Understanding the qualification grade

Awarding and reporting for the qualification

This section explains the rules that we apply in awarding a qualification and in providing an overall qualification grade for each learner. It shows how all the qualifications in this sector are graded.

Eligibility for an award

In order to be awarded a qualification, a learner must complete all units AND achieve a Pass or above in all mandatory units unless otherwise specified. Refer to the structure in Section 2 Structure.

To achieve any qualification grade, learners must:

- complete and have an outcome (D, M, P or U) for all units within a valid combination
- achieve the required units at Pass or above shown in Section 2, abiding by the minimum requirements in the compensation table below
- achieve the minimum number of points at a grade threshold.

It is the responsibility of a centre to ensure that a correct unit combination is adhered to. Learners who do not achieve the required minimum grade (P) in units shown in the structure will not achieve a qualification.

Learners who do not achieve sufficient points for a qualification or who do not achieve all the required units may be eligible to achieve a smaller qualification in the same suite, provided they have completed and achieved the correct combination of units and met the appropriate qualification grade points threshold.

Compensation table

Qualification	Compensation rule	Unit equivalence
Certificate (180 GLH)	No compensation allowed	0 units
Subsidiary Diploma (360 GLH)	Mandatory must be passed, 60 GLH only at U grade permitted from optional	1 * 60 GLH unit
Foundation Diploma (540 GLH)	Mandatory must be passed, 120 GLH only at U grade permitted from optional	2 * 60 GLH units
Diploma (720 GLH)	Mandatory must be passed, 180 GLH only at U grade permitted from optional	3 * 60 GLH units

Calculation of the qualification grade

The final grade awarded for a qualification represents an aggregation of a learner's performance across the qualification. As the qualification grade is an aggregate of the total performance, there is some element of compensation in that a higher performance in some units may be balanced by a lower outcome in others.

If a learner achieves more than the required number of optional units, the mandatory units, along with the optional units with the highest grades, will be used to calculate the overall result, subject to the eligibility requirements for that particular qualification title.

BTEC International Level 3 qualifications are awarded at the grade ranges shown in the table below.

Qualification	Available grade range
Certificate, Subsidiary Diploma, Foundation Diploma	P to D*
Diploma	PP to D*D*

The Calculation of qualification grade table, given later in this section, shows the minimum thresholds for calculating these grades. The table will be kept under review over the lifetime of the qualification. In the event of any change, centres will be informed before the start of teaching for the relevant cohort and an updated table will be issued on our website.

Learners who do not meet the minimum requirements for a qualification grade to be awarded will be recorded as Unclassified (U) and will not be certificated. They may receive a Notification of Performance for individual units. The Information Manual gives full information.

Points available for unit size and grades

The table below shows the number of points available for units. For each unit, points are allocated depending on the grade awarded.

	Unit size
	60 GLH
U	0
Pass	6
Merit	10
Distinction	16

Claiming the qualification grade

Pearson will automatically calculate the qualification grade for your learners when the unit grades are submitted and the qualification claim is made. Learners will be awarded qualification grades for achieving the sufficient number of points within the ranges shown in the relevant Calculation of qualification grade table.

Calculation of qualification grade

Examples of grade calculations based on table applicable to registrations from September 2024

Example 1: Achievement of a Certificate with a P grade

	GLH	Type (Int/PSA)	Grade	Unit points
Unit 1	60	PSA	Pass	6
Unit 12	60	Int	Pass	6
Unit 15	60	Int	Merit	10
Totals	180		P	22

The learner has sufficient points for a P grade.

Example 2: Achievement of a Certificate with an M grade

	GLH	Type (Int/PSA)	Grade	Unit points
Unit 1	60	PSA	Pass	6
Unit 12	60	Int	Merit	10
Unit 15	60	Int	Distinction	16
Totals	180		M	32

The learner has sufficient points for an M grade.

Example 3: An Unclassified result for a Certificate

	GLH	Type (Int/PSA)	Grade	Unit points
Unit 1	60	PSA	Unclassified	0
Unit 12	60	Int	Merit	10
Unit 15	60	Int	Distinction	16
Totals	180		Unclassified	26

The learner has an Unclassified result in Unit 1.

The learner has sufficient overall points for a P grade but has not met the minimum requirement for a grade in Unit 1.

Examples of grade calculations based on table applicable to registrations from September 2024

Example 1: Achievement of a Subsidiary Diploma with a P grade

	GLH	Type (Int/PSA)	Grade	Unit points
Unit 1	60	PSA	Merit	10
Unit 2	60	PSA	Pass	6
Unit 3	60	Int	Pass	6
Unit 12	60	Int	Pass	6
Unit 15	60	Int	Merit	10
Unit 21	60	Int	Pass	6
Totals	360		P	44

The learner has achieved P or higher in Units 1, 2, 3 and 12.

The learner has sufficient points for a P grade.

Example 2: Achievement of a Subsidiary Diploma with an M grade

	GLH	Type (Int/PSA)	Grade	Unit points
Unit 1	60	PSA	Merit	10
Unit 2	60	PSA	Pass	6

The learner has Unclassified results in Units 2 and 3.

The learner has sufficient points for a PP grade but has not met the minimum requirement of a P or higher in Units 2 and 3.

10 Resources and support

Our aim is to give you a wealth of resources and support to enable you to deliver BTEC International Level 3 qualifications with confidence. You will find a list of resources to support teaching and learning, and professional development on our website.

Support for setting up your course and preparing to teach

Specification

The specification (for teaching from September 2024) gives you details of the administration of the qualifications and information on the units for the qualifications.

Pearson Progress

Pearson Progress is a digital support system that helps you to manage the assessment and quality assurance of the Pearson BTEC International Level 3 Hospitality qualifications. It supports delivery, assessment and quality assurance of BTECs in centres and supports teachers and students as follows:

- course creation
- creating and verifying assignments
- creating assessment plans and recording assessment decisions
- upload of assignment evidence
- tracking progress of every learner

The system is accessible for teachers and learners so that both teachers and learners can track their progress.

Support for teaching and learning

Pearson Learning Services provide a range of engaging resources to enable you to start teaching BTEC International Level 3 qualifications. These may include the following materials:

- student books, designed to support the teaching and learning journey. These include case studies, discussion prompts, key content and supporting images to help learners develop their understanding. Items from the student books will link with other resources, which will support teaching and learning
- slide presentations, which include all the key concepts across all the learning aims for each unit
- delivery guides, which give you important advice on how to choose the right course for your learners and how to ensure you are fully prepared to deliver the course. They explain the key features of the BTEC International Level 3 Hospitality qualifications, for example employer involvement and employability skills. They also cover guidance on assessment and quality assurance.
- sample schemes of work are provided for each mandatory unit. These are available in Word™ format for ease of customisation.

Support for assessment

Sample assessment materials for internally-assessed units

For internal units assessed with a Pearson Set Assignment we will provide a sample assignment as an example of the form of assessment for the unit. For the remaining internal units, we allow you to set your own assignments, according to your learners' preferences and to link with your local employment profile.

We provide a service in the form of Authorised Assignment Briefs and sample Pearson Set Assignments, which are approved by Pearson Standards Verifiers. They are available via our website.

Training and support from Pearson

Training and professional development

Pearson provides a range of training and professional development events to support the introduction, delivery, assessment and administration of BTEC International Level 3 qualifications. These sector-specific events, developed and delivered by specialists, are available both face to face and online.

'Getting Ready to Teach'

These events are designed to get teachers ready for delivery of the BTEC International Level 3 qualifications. They include an overview of qualification structures, planning and preparation for internal assessment, and quality assurance.

Teaching and learning

Beyond the 'Getting Ready to Teach' professional development events, there are opportunities for teachers to attend sector- and role-specific events. These events are designed to connect practice to theory; they provide teacher support and networking opportunities with delivery, learning and assessment methodology.

Details of our training and professional development programme can be found on our website.

Appendix 1: Links to industry standards

BTEC International Level 3 qualifications have been developed in consultation with industry and appropriate sector bodies to ensure that content and the approach to assessment align closely to the needs of employers. Where they exist, and are appropriate, National Occupational Standards (NOS) and professional body standards have been used to establish unit content.

Appendix 2: Transferable employability skills

The need for transferable skills

In recent years, higher-education institutions and employers have consistently flagged the need for learners to develop a range of transferable skills to enable them to respond with confidence to the demands of undergraduate study and the world of work.

The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) defines skills, or competencies, as 'the bundle of knowledge, attributes and capacities that can be learned and that enable individuals to successfully and consistently perform an activity or task and can be built upon and extended through learning.' [1]

To support the design of our qualifications, the Pearson Research Team selected and evaluated seven global 21st-century skills frameworks. Following on from this process, we identified the National Research Council's (NRC) framework [2] as the most evidence-based and robust skills framework, and have used this as a basis for our adapted skills framework.

The framework includes cognitive, intrapersonal skills and interpersonal skills.

The skills have been interpreted for this specification to ensure that they are appropriate for the subject. All of the skills listed are evident or accessible in the teaching, learning and/or assessment of the qualifications. Some skills are directly assessed. Pearson materials will support you in identifying these skills and in developing these skills in learners.

The table overleaf sets out the framework and gives an indication of the skills that can be found in hospitality, it indicates the interpretation of the skills in this area. A full interpretation of each skill, with mapping to show opportunities for learner development, is given on the subject pages of our website: http://qualifications.pearson.com.

Appendix 3: Sustainability

Learning for a better world

As the world's leading learning company, creating a more sustainable world is a natural part of everything we do. Learning itself is the greatest force for change in our world and helping people gain knowledge and skills is, inherently, a way to improve our planet and our society. We do that everyday by turning our products into vibrant learning experiences, focusing on our people, and protecting our planet.

Our sustainable business strategy

We are aligning with the United Nation's Sustainable Development Goals that represent the environmental, social and governance areas in which we can make the biggest positive impact.

Our sustainable business strategy focuses on:

- Products – driving learning for everyone with our products
  We're widening access to learning for more people and ensuring our products have measurable outcomes.
- People – empowering our people to make a difference
  We're building a culture of belonging, along with a performance culture, so our people can make a real difference at scale.
- Planet – leading responsibly for a better planet
  We're reducing our environmental footprint and working with like-minded partners.

The United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) exist to achieve a better and more sustainable future for all. We contribute towards the following Sustainable Development Goals.

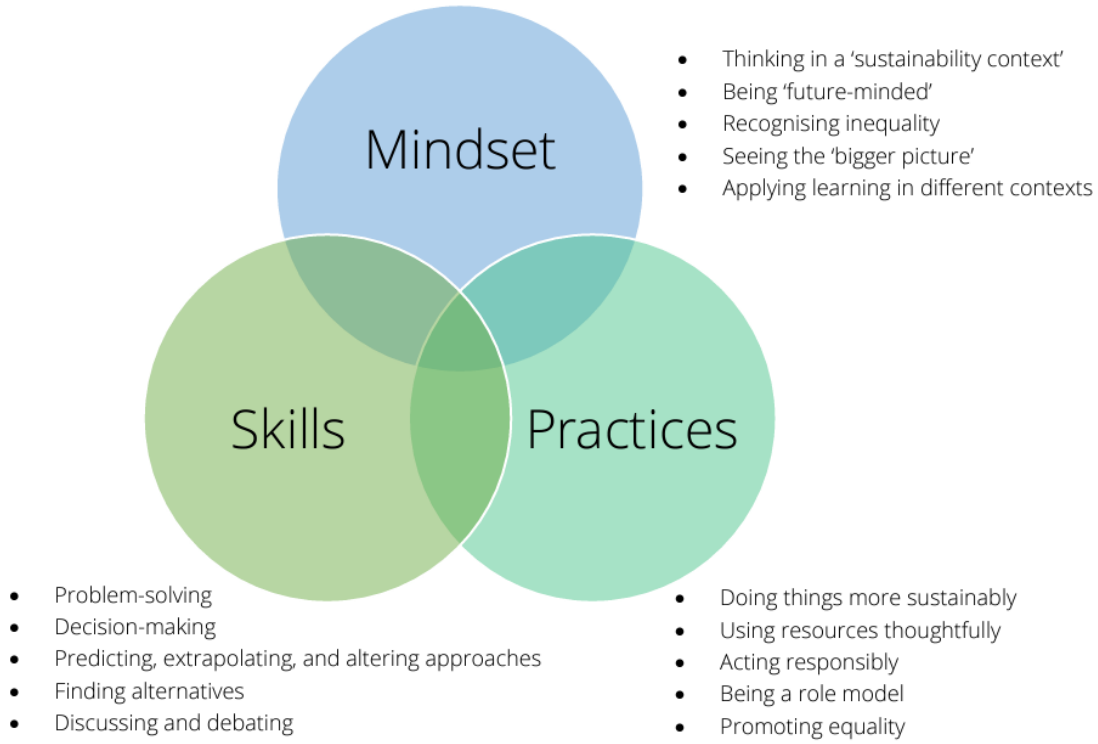

More detailed guidance on our sustainable business strategy and how we are contributing towards these goals, is available on our website at https://plc.pearson.com/en-GB/sustainability

Embedding sustainability into our qualifications

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO) has identified a series of cross-cutting sustainability and specialised SDG competencies, which is reflected in our qualifications.

We see sustainability in the context of our qualifications, assessments and teaching and learning resources, and how we can embed sustainability in a meaningful and pragmatic way, in three distinct areas: mindset, skills and practices.

Embedding sustainability mindset

Throughout the delivery of our BTEC Internationals, there are many opportunities to discuss sustainability topics with learners in the context of their qualification. A sustainability 'mindset' means that learners will ask the question of every topic, 'How is this sustainable?' or 'How does this affect people, the planet, and my future?'

Topics you could address in the 'sustainability mindset', are as follows:

- Energy usage
- Pollution
- Climate impact
- Human resources involved
- The global context.
- People – empowering our people to make a difference

Embedding sustainability skills

Any successful qualification teaches learners knowledge, skills and behaviours associated with a particular topic but often it is the cross-cutting skills that learners learn that end up having the most value in the long-term. Whilst we feel that a sustainable 'mindset' is vitally important to learners recognising and being able to think sustainably in the long-term, we feel that the embedding of sustainability skills is equally important because it means they will be able to 'do' something about the issue they identify through their new-found awareness of sustainability. The skills we are advocating are complementary to the skills they will develop as a matter of course on their BTEC International qualification but in this context, are given a new focus and importance.

Embedding sustainability practices

Less directly linked to the subject of a learner's study, sustainability practices are the actions and behaviours that we can encourage learners to take and develop that will enhance the sustainability of the course's delivery and their ability to make decisions and take actions that are more sustainable.

This may extend to the way they travel to school/college, the way they submit their assignment work, or the way resources are used and respected. In many ways, this is core of encouraging sustainability awareness because this is where the academic becomes practical as learners are encouraged to apply their learning in real-world ways. This aspect should complement the other key areas of sustainability covered in this section.

Our approach to sustainability in the Pearson BTEC International Level 3 in Hospitality

We have considered how this qualification achieves the Sustainability Development Goals (SDGs) and Cross Cutting Skills, defined by the United Nations. Whilst acknowledging that sustainability can be approached in many ways in the design, teaching and assessment of this qualification – we have embedded sustainability by exemplifying the unit content and topic areas and provided additional guidance, with examples in the assessment guidance sections of this specification, where relevant.

In addition, the following unit in the Pearson BTEC International Level 3 in Hospitality explicitly includes learning aims which highlights the importance of sustainability and the effects it has within the industry.

- Unit 2: Environment and Sustainability in the Hospitality Industry.

We have also further developed our assessments, and teaching and learning resources to strengthen and support the mindset, skills and practices we want your learners to embrace when they think about sustainability in the real-world.

Delivering Sustainability through Classroom Activities

Sustainability is an area that can be addressed by all vocational subjects. Teachers should consider how they can actively address sustainability as they deliver subject content and create awareness of sustainability. Examples of this could include:

- Use of sustainability related case studies to reinforce topics delivered:
  - The use of non-fossil fuel to power cars and aircraft
  - How attitudes towards the carbon footprint of food and raw materials have affected manufacturing and logistical processes
  - Sustainable travel and tourism
  - Social entrepreneurship and sustainable practices
  - Sustainable agricultural practices
  - Sustainability in art and the portrayal of visual images and artefacts
  - Repurposing of land and buildings to reduce the release of harmful materials into the environment
  - Poverty reduction and job growth
- Considering the long-term impact on the environment and climate by the organisations and vocational sectors being studied:
  - The disposable of materials and chemicals from manufacturing processes
  - The use of solar power and green energy to heat buildings and to power machinery
  - Organisational culture and adoption of sustainable business practices

More detailed guidance about our approach, with examples of how you can embed sustainability into the qualifications you deliver, is available on our qualifications website.

Appendix 4: Glossary of terms used

Term	Definition
Analyse	Learners present the outcome of methodical and detailed examination either: • breaking down a theme, topic or situation in order to interpret and study the interrelationships between the parts and/or • of information or data to interpret and study key trends and interrelationships.
Assess	Learners present a careful consideration of varied factors or events that apply to a specific situation or identify those which are the most important or relevant and arrive at a conclusion.
Describe	Learners' work gives a clear, objective account in their own words, showing recall and, in some cases application, of the relevant features and information about a subject.
Develop	Learners acquire and apply skills through practical activities to create a functioning product, service or system that is fit for audience and purpose.
Evaluate	Learners' work draws on varied information, themes or concepts to consider aspects, such as: • strengths or weaknesses • advantages or disadvantages • alternative actions • relevance or significance. Learners' inquiries should lead to a supported judgement showing relationship to its context. This will often be in a conclusion. Evidence will often be written but could be through presentation or activity.
Examine	Knowledge with application where learners are expected to select and apply to less familiar contexts.

Term	Definition
Explain	Learners' work shows clear details and gives reasons and/or evidence to support an opinion, view or argument. It could show how conclusions are drawn.
Explore	Skills and/or knowledge involving practical research or testing.
Investigate	Learners conduct an enquiry or study into something to discover and examine facts and information.
Justify	Learners give reasons or evidence to: • support an opinion; or • prove something right or reasonable.
Plan	Learners create a way of doing a task or series of tasks to achieve specific requirements or objectives, showing progress from start to finish.
Review	Learners' make a formal assessment of work produced. The assessment allows learners to: • appraise existing information or prior events • reconsider information with the intention of making changes, if necessary.
Undertake/carry out	Learners use a range of skills to perform a task, research or activity.

This is a key summary of the types of evidence used for BTEC International Level 3 qualifications.

Type of evidence	Definition and purpose
Case study	A specific example to which all learners must select and apply knowledge. Used to show application to a realistic context where direct experience cannot be gained.
Independent research	An analysis of substantive research organised by learners from secondary and, if applicable, primary sources.
Individual project	A self-directed, large-scale activity requiring planning, research, exploration, outcome and review. Used to show self-management, project management and/or deep learning.
Written task or report	Individual completion of a task in a work-related format, for example a report, marketing communication, set of instructions, giving information.
